NEWS SUMMARY of the Tribune (And Historical Score Book.) Friday, May 3, 1929.

JURY TO VOTE TODAY ON CANAL GRAFT CHARGES

Crowe and 14 Others Face Indictment.

The names of six trustees of the sanitary district who were members of the old board, and of Timothy J. Crowe, former president, and eight or nine other employees or former employees of the district, will be submitted to the grand jury this morning for possible indictment, it was learned yesterday.

Assistant State's Attorneys John Elliott Byrne, Thomas H. Slusher, Otho Faigl, and George Callaghan spent yesterday "tying the ribbons on the expected indictment papers," as they put it. They said they will be ready to make a prompt return to Chief Justice John J. Sullivan of the Criminal court if the jury votes to indict those now under consideration as defendants.

List May Contain 15 Names.

The complete list of defendants will probably total fifteen, but one or two may be added or dropped at the last minute, according to the commands of the jurors, it was reported.

Among the names to be submitted to the jury, besides that of Crowe, according to reports in the Criminal court yesterday, are the following:

John J. Toole, member of the old board and also of the present board. He John K. Lawler, a member of both the old and new boards.

August W. Miller, a member of both the old and new boards.

Frank J. Lisk, a holdover trustee from the old board, of which he was the only Deneen member.

Lawrence F. King, chairman of the finance committee of the old board and a member of the present group of trustees.

James M. Whalen, a member of the old board and also of the new group of trustees.

Marvin O'Brien, chairman of the managing committee of the Democratic party of Cook county. He was chief clerk of the district under the Crowe regime.

Harry Wallace, chief deputy clerk under Crowe and a holdover on the present board. He has been called the majordomo of the New York whoopee party held at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

William Cessner, former superintendent of licenses and a Democratic leader of the 4th ward. He was chief investigator of the law department of the district.

Attorney Samuel Weisbacher, known as the district lobbyist in the state capitol. He refused to sign an immunity waiver before the grand jury and testifying parties held at Springfield for state senators and assemblymen. His expense accounts were loaded with items charged as drugs, at $4 per drug—as the prosecutors pointed out, the exact price of a bottle of drug store whisky.

Fix Series Indictments.

The prosecutors, under the direction of First Assistant State's Attorney Frank J. Loesch, who for more than a year has been waging against the political combinations, have drawn up a series of conspiracy indictments, naming different groups of possible defendants, it was reported.

The documents are all along the same line, charging the embezzlement, misappropriation, and diversion of public funds for either whose parties or the self-advertising of Crowe and his associates.

One item, not before disclosed, will be among the charges of diversion of public money included in the indictments. It was learned yesterday that this item of $1,472, it is charged, went to pay for the honeymoon trip of Julius Klein, who claimed to be editor of a German newspaper, and who was one of the district pay rollers at the rate of $400 a month. Klein and his bride, the prosecutors say, made a trip to Austria at the expense of the Cook county taxpayers. He is also charged with forming a trio of friends of some German art society to the east at the expense of the district.

The series of true bills will charge that a total of about $250,000 was paid out by the trustees unnecessarily.

The quo warranto petition against the seven members of the old board of trustees, who are on the present board, was continued yesterday by Judge Hugo Pace in the Superior court until May 9. He allowed the continuance so that all the trustees may employ counsel and be in court to object to the filing of the petition if they desire.

HOWE DEFENDS BOY WHO SAID HE HAD BIG FEET

Amarillo, Tex., May 2.—(AP)—Gene Howe, editor of the Amarillo News-Globe, today went to the aid of Carl Hart, Hollene, N. M., schoolboy, suspended from school because he said Howe had big feet.

Hart was one of the 40 Hollene High school students who made a motor trip to Amarillo and visited Howe. While they were in the News-Globe office Hart looked at Howe and said: "You surely have big feet."

Howe today received this letter from the Hollene chamber of commerce:

"We take this method of expressing our regret over the remarks made by a certain Carl Hart as regards your feet. We are deeply chagrined and hope you will not be prejudiced against our city. Carl has been suspended from high school."

To which Mr. Howe wired:

"Carl is just an old country boy who doesn't know any better than to say what he means. He was just having some fun. I wear a ten and a half shoe and I am not ashamed of it. We need more Carl Harts."

Howe, in his telegram, said he would consider it a personal affront if the student is not immediately reinstated.

Helped Move Freight.

Before dying the patient told his wife he had worked as a theatrical man in Hollywood. They came to a hospital here today and he died.

He was buried at the Evanston station for the last two years. Stratford, dying of tuberculosis, revealed "he" was a woman.

The former Hollywood actor and government employee in Washington was married for nearly ten years.

An ambulance brought Stratford last night from a hotel at Niles, where he had lived with "Mrs. Stratford" for the last two years. Stratford had been employed as a bookkeeper by a nursery there, but told hospital attendants "he" had been unable to work for nearly a month.

When stewards removed their patient from the ambulance they heard "him" murmur:

"Don't put me in the men's ward—I'm a woman."

Physicians found this was true.

Fair and Warmer Today.

Clear skies and a rising temperature were predicted for today in Chicago, where a trace of snow fell yesterday, and in central Illinois, southwestern Michigan, eastern Indiana, Missouri, and eastern Iowa, where the snowfall ranged from three to six inches.

The wind howled over most of the state, with a half inch at Springfield, and in some sections telephone service was impaired by breaking lines. Michigan's fruit region was hit by snow, but little damage was inflicted on blossoming trees. Rain, snow, and sleet and freezing temperatures were experienced in parts of Indiana.

Principal Knocked Unconscious.

Floyd Noblin, principal of the school, told a similar story.

"I saw the storm coming up the valley and ran into the building," he said. "The schoolhouse collapsed just after I entered and I knew nothing more until I had been pulled from the wreckage."

The school was a seven room building situated on a high plateau in the rolling hills between the mountains. Its enrollment was 250 students, and the teachers estimated that there were in school when the tornado struck.

The wind lifted the building from its foundation, leaving the floors.

The upper stories disintegrated as the wind tore it asunder, pieces of the wreckage being blown in all directions more than 400 yards away.

Rescue Deserves Praise.

A northeast gale swept across five central states yesterday, whipping fruit trees and crops with heavy snows, disrupting rural telephone lines and transportation, and churning the swollen waters of Lake Michigan.

Estimates of the rural damage last night exceeded a million dollars. The destruction on Chicago's waterfront, with seawalls crumbling, highways awash, residential lots inundated, and basements flooded, will run into thousands of dollars.

South Shore Hard Hit.

The South Shore drive district was hardest hit in Chicago. Waves battered a storage warehouse projecting twenty feet into the lake at 74th street and South Shore drive and smashed in windows on the first and second floors. A retaining wall of solid masonry, 15 feet high, provided insufficient protection from the surging waves.

The grounds of the South Shore Country club, 71st street and the drive, were in spots three feet deep in water. A car passing the club was washed into the lawn at the home of Mortimer B. Flynn, directly across the street from the club. The drive between 67th and 69th streets was flooded above the curbs. The basements of houses along the street for several blocks were filled with water.

Part of the grounds surrounding the home of Gustaf Miller, fronting the lake at 2971 East 1st street, were crumbled and washed away despite a heavy stone wall which ordinarily protects the property from the water.

Diving Platform Submerged.

Seven states, 6 of them in the northern area, yesterday felt the force of a series of tornados that spread death and destruction over a large section. The death toll totaled 30, divided as follows:

Virginia, 18; Arkansas, 5; Tennessee, 2; Alabama, 1; Florida, 1; Ohio, 2; Maryland, 2; Kentucky, 1. More than 200 persons were injured in the storm area.

100 CHILDREN ARE INJURED IN VIRGINIA STORM

Embreeville district, and killing two persons and injuring five others.

Second School Based; Boy Killed.

Culpeper, Va., May 2.—[Special.]—One school boy was killed when a tornado late today demolished the town, near Culpeper, Va., in Rappahannock county, and injured many persons in the town. Reports telephoned from Boston, five miles from Woodville, stated that the large high school was razed and that Mrs. Louis Brownings and Miss Mary Stark, teachers, were among those seriously injured.

The Episcopal church was lifted and moved from its foundations some distance away. There are fifteen houses in the immediate settlement, and virtually all were damaged.

Prison Wrecked; 2 Inmates Die.

Columbus, O., May 2.—[Special.]—Two prisoners were known dead, four others reported killed, and scores injured today when a tornado swooped down on the Columbus city prison and wrecked one wing of the structure.

Nine other prisoners were missing and believed to be among the ruins. One of the two known dead was Derrill Devore, address unknown, who had been admitted to the jail on a charge of intoxication two hours before the tornado struck. The other was unidentified. The dead and injured were crushed by falling debris when the west wall of a cell block was blown in. The east wall also was wrecked, but fell into the prison courtyard. Fifty prisoners were put to work to dig into the ruins hunting more bodies.

Those prisoners in the bottom tier of cells, on which the walls fell, were traffic violators, according to Chief Thomas E. French.

Rescue Workers Injured.

Many of the rescue workers were injured when a second windstorm blew loose pieces of metal from the upper part of the ruins.

Filling stations and homes in the vicinity of the prison also were leveled by the winds, but no fatalities were reported. Water was scooped up out of the Scioto river by the winds and deposited over the city hall in the center of the business district.

According to weather bureau officials the wind reached a velocity of approximately 40 miles per hour, stayed about a few minutes, and then fell off about 30 miles an hour, where it stayed for more than an hour.

Humor entered into the tragedy when one of the guards caught a colored prisoner making his escape over one of the collapsed walls.

"Where you going?" he was asked. "I'm going home," he replied. "They ain't got no place to keep me here."

One Killed in Jacksonville, Fla.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 2.—(AP)—One person was killed and ten or twelve injured during a windstorm which struck the outskirts of this city late today. Mathew Hoefer was killed in Jacksonville Heights.

Tornado Hit Alabama.

Mobile, Ala., May 2.—(AP)—One man was killed and one woman and her baby seriously injured, and five others slightly hurt when a tornado struck a section of Baldwin county, Alabama, early today.

Judge Robert Stout of the county court in Pensacola, was blown into the bay while driving an automobile and was rescued with difficulty. It was necessary to cut the top from the

ALCOHOLISM DEATHS DECREASE DURING 1ST FOUR MONTHS OF 1929

Deaths from acute and chronic alcoholism in Cook county decreased in the first four months of this year as compared with the corresponding period of 1928, Coroner Herman N. Bundesen announced yesterday. The total of 86 to date exceeds the yearly totals for the first two years following the adoption of prohibition.

Yearly comparisons follow:

Year.	Total Deaths
1928	119
1929	86
1928	120
1929	86
1928	120
1929	86

In the first four months of 1928 there were 119 deaths reported.

The high quality of liquor offered explains the decrease in mortality," Coroner Bundesen explained. "Early in the prohibition era death dropped because people made an effort to observe the law, and those who did not could obtain pre-war stuff. Then followed widespread disregard of the law, which brought a flood of poisonous liquor. Since those years the grade of liquor has become better, various analysts claim."

Machine and Judge Stout was almost unconscious when rescued.

Cyclone in West Virginia.

Morgantown, W. Va., May 2.—(AP)—Between 50 and 40 houses were wrecked and about fifty persons injured, seriously, by a cyclone which struck Morgantown early tonight.

The Morgantown Country club, a $200,000 property, was about demolished. William H. Thompson, the club steward, was injured. About twenty persons on the golf course when the storm struck escaped by seeking protection behind bunkers and hugging the earth.

Five Dead in Arkansas.

Wheatley, Ark., May 2.—(AP)—Investigation by county officials today showed five persons were killed in the tornado which struck here and at Brinkley last night.

Two Dead in Maryland.

Gaithersburg, Md., May 2.—(AP)—Two persons were killed and four injured in the collapse of a house at Laytonsville, near here, tonight during the heavy windstorm which swept over this section. The house was occupied by the family of Bowie Childs.

The resolution also urges the defeat of any other legislation which is designed to impose additional tax burdens on the people of Chicago to the advantage of the residents in the rural districts.

COP FINDS KILLING BANDIT IS TOUGH ON HONEYMOON

Waits in Jail for Canadian Red Tape to Unroll.

By T. R. Elliott.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, Ont., May 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Dilworth N. McClellan of Detroit, Mich., are waiting with what patience they can muster for the red tape of Canadian justice to unroll and allow them to proceed on their honeymoon, interrupted yesterday morning when three highwaymen held up their automobile and demanded money.

McClellan, 42, is a Detroit police officer holding a score of the bandits to death, wounded another, and routed the third. When he reported the shooting to the police he was arrested and charged with being an "alien in possession of a revolver" and was jailed without bail.

Mrs. McClellan naturally could not proceed on the honeymoon alone, and although not seriously upset by the occurrence she regretted that they had not proceeded at once to Manhattan and the holiday they had been looking forward to.

Released on Bail.

J. W. Sprott, superintendent of Detroit police, and E. K. Fox, chief of Detroit detectives, hastened to London by motor when they heard of McClellan's plight. They offered bail in any amount up to $100,000 to secure McClellan's release from custody, but Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd had asked the Ontario attorney general for instructions, and these were that the bandit killer was to be held until after an inquest on the body of Bob Schmitz, the dead highwayman.

"No, he will not be charged with murder, even technical," said Mr. Judd, "but we can't release him."

"Release McClellan at once and give him a medal!" were some of the demands publicly voiced by residents.

Inquest Is Opened.

The inquest was opened tonight. McClellan, who appeared in court tomorrow morning and then was sent on his way. He is in the luxe quarters at the Middlesex jail.

"McClellan has been treated with every kindness," said Chief of Detectives Fox, "and as a matter of fact I have heard more criticism here in Canada over the necessity of keeping

Liner with 1,000 on Board Crashes Into a Freighter

New York, May 2.—[Special.]—The Spanish royal mail liner Cristobal Colon outward bound for Vigo, Spain, with 1,000 passengers, crashed into the British freighter River Orontes of the America Levante line today with such force that the sound of the impact was heard for a mile from the quarantine station, off which the collision occurred.

Maltese Gash 20 Feet High.

The high sharp bow of the Spanish passenger liner cut into the port side of the River Orontes almost amidships, going in deep and making a great gash 20 feet high. At the same time the tremendous force of the collision splintered and crumpled the bow of the liner. Both began to take water rapidly.

Hurry calls were made to the wrecking companies and other agencies. Incoming destroyers of the United States navy, inbound for a lark and a vacation, found they had a job on their hands and stood by under the leadership of the knifelike No. 247, while the wrecking tugs came up and got hawsers aboard the freighter.

In the meantime, officers of the Cristobal Colon had quite a time with their emotional human cargo. Most of the 1,000 passengers aboard were Spaniards, and when the crash came many of them were badly frightened, and with plenty of reason. Nobody was hurt on either ship.

A jury in Judge Joseph E. David's court yesterday returned a verdict of $10,000 against Peter Zukas, 18, West 23d street, for the death of one of four persons who were fatally injured by his automobile a year ago.

Zukas has been found guilty of manslaughter in the Criminal court and sentenced to serve 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary.

The action was brought for the death of Zofia Wichaensky. Witnesses testified that Zukas was intoxicated when he drove into the group as they waited for a street car.

Judge Davis fined Dr. M. L. Bednrowski, a medical coroner's physician, $25 for contempt of court when he failed to appear as a witness.

With no deaths reported yesterday, the 1929 Cook county motor toll remained at 239.

GIRLS IGNORE 1917 BATHING SUIT LAW NEW ONE SOUGHT

Solicitous of the public welfare in the matter of feminine apparel on the bathing beaches, the city council in solemn meeting yesterday directed two committees to engage in a research. Public sentiment as to what changes should be effected should be determined without delay, as the bathing season is near, the resolution introduced by Ald. Dorsey R. Crowe (440) asserts.

The ordinance governing the style and type of bathing suit which may be worn at the beaches under the supervision of the department of parks is anticipated, having been adopted in 1917, the resolution states, and officials find it impossible to enforce the regulations. Therefore, the committee on parks and playgrounds, with the aid of the committee on public health, will hold public hearings preparatory to drafting a new ordinance.

Maltese Gash 20 Feet High.

The tugs were assisted by the big Cristobal Colon. Its tall bow still firmly jammed into the great gash it had cut in the side of the River Orontes, the Cristobal Colon pushed through the tugs pulled, and the freighter was removed from the path of shipping.

With the freighter safe for the moment at least, the Spanish liner was torn away from the gaping hole in the port quarter of the Orontes and proceeded to its pier in the East river, there to discharge its frightened passengers and take stock of the injuries it had suffered.

In the meantime, officers of the Cristobal Colon had quite a time with their emotional human cargo. Most of the 1,000 passengers aboard were Spaniards, and when the crash came many of them were badly frightened, and with plenty of reason. Nobody was hurt on either ship.

ASSERTS GUILTY ESCAPE THROUGH SUPREME COURT

Haven for Bail Jumpers, Chamberlin Says.

Justices of the Illinois Supreme court were criticized yesterday in a report sent by Henry Barrett Chamberlin, director of the Chicago Crime Commission, to Frank J. Loesch, president.

Mr. Chamberlin attacked what he terms the "practice" of the court in releasing dangerous criminals on bail after conviction by the Criminal courts. He informed Mr. Loesch that numbers of men convicted of murder, robbery, rape, and crimes against children—men who he said ought to be serving their sentences in the penitentiary—are still at large because the court follows that practice.

Six Cases Are Cited.

The report declared that many criminals take their cases to the Supreme court in the hope of evading sentence and that, having been released on bonds pending the court's action, they at once jump their bonds when the court's decision goes against them. He cited eleven cases of this, cases taken at random from the criminal records.

Mr. Chamberlin said that in three of the cases cited the bond fortifications had been set aside by the court. "It may be set aside," he stated, "that the person who is held responsible for the convicted person's escape, but it frequently happens that some judge can be found who is willing to set the sentence aside and then nothing remains of the conviction but a memory."

"Fugitive Has Little to Fear."

"Even this," the report continued, "lives after a while and the fugitive has little to fear. It happened in the case of Frank McGuirk, Joseph Garlock and Joseph Babich.

"That many take advantage of this 'foul out' becomes apparent from a place at the list of persons convicted of crimes, who have forfeited supersedeas bonds after the Supreme court affirmed the judgment of the lower court and denied a rehearing."

Cases in Question Listed.

Then Mr. Chamberlin's report listed the following cases:

Peter Friesen, convicted of murder and sentenced to life in the penitentiary, was shot and killed a man because of jealousy.

Joe Sacino, sentenced to ten years to life. Sacino and two others were charged with holding up two stores and a pawn shop.

Frank McNeil, sentenced to ten years to life. He was charged with robbery with a gun.

Joseph Garlock, sentenced to Pontiac for the reformatory for ten years to life for robbery with a gun. He and a companion were charged with holding up three citizens and robbing them of $700.

Joseph Babich, sentenced to Pontiac for one to fourteen years for assault to murder. Babich and seven others were charged with shooting two citizens during an attempt to rob them.

Elmer G. Mischler, sentenced to one to fourteen years for confidence game. There were numerous charges against him.

Robert J. Peck, sentenced to one to fourteen years for indecent liberties. His victim was a 6 year old boy.

A. William Besson, given six months for assault with deadly weapon.

George Niederman, one to ten years for larceny. Misappropriated funds invested to him by an agent. He has a record extending back to 1904.

Perry Collins, sentenced to one to ten years for larceny.

Sam Worthman and Leona Cole, sentenced to one year in the Cook county jail. Friends of these women made application for a pardon for them, while they were fugitives from justice. "This frequently happens," is the comment of Mr. Chamberlin.

All these persons are now at liberty as a result of action by the Supreme court, Mr. Chamberlin said.

"These cases," he continued, "are cited to show that convicted persons given their liberty pending review usually misuse the privilege and very often are never apprehended after the cases are affirmed."

Records at the Children's hospital reveal that Rose Lombardi, 9 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lombardi of San Francisco, while under treatment for a mastoid last week, registered a temperature of 112 degrees, which is six degrees higher than normal.

Today the girl was reported on the way to recovery. Last Saturday night when the child's temperature reached 106 degrees two physicians were called to perform an operation in an effort to save her life. When the operation was completed the girl's temperature was taken again and it stood at 112 degrees. The amazed physicians ordered it retaken and the temperature was confirmed.

Since then numerous physicians have called at the hospital to observe the case.

CROWD EXPECTED TO ATTEND LEGION PROTEST TODAY

Traffic through Clark street, between Washington and Randolph streets, may be impossible at noon today if the expectations of the Cook County council and American Legion posts are fulfilled. Leaders of the council expect the street to be filled with ex-service men, many of whom they believe will be unable to get into a protest meeting at the Erlanger theater. Arrangements have been made for overflow meetings outside.

The Legion protest is because Congress refused to pass the Rogers hospitalization bill for tubercular and insane ex-service men, but did pass an appropriation of $54,000,000 for prohibition enforcement and another of $8,000,000 for wild bird sanctuaries.

Speakers at the protest meeting will be Howard P. Savage, past national commander of the Legion; David L. Shillinglaw, state commander; Brig. Gen. Abel Davis, Col. A. A. Sprague, Ferre C. Watkins, national executive committee members, and others.

Contract Awarded for N.Y.'s Elevated Highway

New York, May 2.—[Special.] The board of estimate today awarded the contract for the first section of the elevated express highway from Canal to 23d street along the Hudson river, to James B. Stewart, second lowest bidder at $4,125,000. H. B. Green, whose bid of $4,185,000 was thrown out because the board thought his firm's financial condition unsound, announced he would try to get an injunction to restrain this disposition of the contract.

DYRYS SMASH UP PASTOR'S HOME, FIND NO LIQUOR

Men Who Gave Girls Wine Raid Wrong Place.

Cleveland, O., May 2.—[Special.] Smashing doors, wrecking furniture, and cursing while they worked, state dry agents raided the home of the Rev. George I. Cooper, superintendent of Union Rescue mission of Lorain, O., today. Falling to find any liquor, the dry agents left. Tonight it was learned that the warrant under which they were acting had been issued for an address next to the Rev. Mr. Cooper's home. There was an error in the house number given.

The agents who conducted the raid, John O. Cole and George Bayham, are the men who used schoolgirls as "decoys" in obtaining liquor evidence. The Rev. Mr. Cooper appeared before U. S. Commissioner George Y. Cooper, federal official. He said the two agents swooped down upon his home early this morning, rapped on the door, and searched his home. They did not show him a warrant, he stated, but "pushed him and his wife out of the way and used vile language."

Wife's Health Imperiled.

Mrs. Cooper is reported to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown as a result of the raid.

Cole conducted the raid upon Cooper's home after his suspension had been ordered by the state probation office. He was summoned to appear at headquarters to answer charges of using 16 year old girls as decoys in liquor raids. Statement by the girls revealed that Cole and Edward Little, another state agent, took them on long auto rides and gave them wine to drink. Deputy sheriffs in Lorain are hunting for Little to arrest him on a warrant charging him with contributing to the delinquency of a girl.

Governor to Be Called On.

Mr. Cooper announced that he would go to Columbus tomorrow and visit the governor personally. Mr. Cooper is 61 years old and is widely known. He is a member of the U. S. Relief mission to Lorain for 12 years. Before that he was an evangelist in New York and Philadelphia, and for a time was chaplain at Sing Sing.

United States Commissioner Joseph W. Horner called on the governor today. When he came out he said he and the governor were in "perfect accord." Horner is the man who represented Cole and Little early this week for the use of girls in raids.

Morgan Is Censured by Jury for Insisting on Free Entry

New York, May 2.—[Special.] The federal grand jury today indulged in some unexpectedly rigorous censure of Congressman William M. Morgan, Ohio dry, who a month ago demanded and received free entry for his baggage, which was reported to contain liquor, when he arrived at this port on the steamer Cristobal.

The censure was contained in a presentation handed up to Judge Horace W. Goddard. The jury declared it to be "un-American and contrary to the principle of equality before the law that any citizen or other person, he is a congressman or other official, should be exempted from inspection of baggage or from the operation of laws or departmental regulations, while others, who are merely part of the plain people, are required to submit thereto."

Laws to Plain Abuses.

"On the contrary, public officials should be the first to set the example of scrupulous acceptance and observance of the burdens of the law. The present practice, right enough in the case of foreign diplomats and distinguished visitors, leads, when extended to our own officials, to plain abuses, to wholly unwarranted claims of being in official business, to a hampering of the proper work of the customs officials, and to material damage—that the claimed privilege of free entry is merely being used as a cover for the importation of contraband."

No Mentioned.

Constituent Morgan's name is not mentioned in the document, but the reference to him is obvious. The presentation, signed by Charles F. Brown, foreman, and all the members of the jury, follows:

With the cooperation of the United States attorney, we have made an investigation to determine following the arrival of the steamer Cristobal at the end of last month. In our judgment such events constitute the first to set an example of obedience to the law. The present instance furnishes an apt illustration of these very evils. While under the technical rules of the criminal law, and in view of the nonexamination of the baggage following the grant of free entry, a criminal prosecution may not be possible, nevertheless an official who presented examination of baggage by claim of free entry and by threat of causing trouble in Washington, cannot complain of the consequences when weighed in the forum of public opinion."

HOLDS COUSINS OF MCCLINTOCK LIQUOR HEIRS

The latest skirmish to break will of William Ebury Nelson McClintock, millionaire orphan, whose death of typhoid fever resulted in the trial of his guardian and heir, William Darling Shepherd, on a charge of murder, ended yesterday. Circuit Judge Philip L. Sullivan ruled that the two groups of cousins, who are seeking to set the will aside, are lawfully entitled to share in the estate.

Each of the two groups, one of eight cousins from Ottumwa, Ia., and another of two cousins from California, is to receive an equal share of the estate by the judge, who ruled that the will was not legally entitled to share in the estate.

The decision does not affect the will.

The heirs plan to bring action through the grounds that McClintock was unduly influenced by Shepherd.

Under the peace terms introduced by the judge, the two groups will continue to coexist until the annual election next June.

Henry J. Greene, president; Walter R. Miller, vice president, and Frank Trautman, secretary-treasurer, officials against whom the action was brought, will continue in office.

United States Commissioner Joseph W. Horner called on the governor today. When he came out he said he and the governor were in "perfect accord."

TWO SEIZED AS PURCHASERS OF MACHINE GUNS

Ten Arms Sales Traced in Massacre Quiz.

Machine guns sold surreptitiously by Peter von Frantzus to Russell Thompson shortly before the Valentine day massacre were traced yesterday to James Shupe, notorious criminal, affiliated with a west side gang, and to William Jackson, owner of a roadhouse on the River road in Schiller Park. Shupe and Jackson were under arrest last night, but denied the purchases.

In an all night grillery of Von Frantzus and Thompson by Assistant State's Attorneys Walker Butler, Harry Ditchburne, and David Stanbury, the officials were told the names of buyers of ten machine guns. Early yesterday detectives seized Jackson at his roadside and they located Shupe last night.

Armed with McGurn and Scallid.

Shupe has been affiliated with Jack McGurn, John Scallid, and others indicted for the killing of seven of the Moran gang or being sought on suspicion of complicity in the crime. Until yesterday he had not been mentioned as a suspect during the two and a half months' investigation. His brother, Tommy, is also known for his criminal exploits and is now in the Joliet penitentiary for his part in the International Harvester pay roll robbery.

For the past is somewhat obscure, detectives said last night, and efforts were being made to learn with whom he has been associating and dealing. Shortly after his arrest Attorney Melvin R. Thompson filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for him which will be heard today. Meanwhile he will be questioned by the prosecutors and by Coronor Herman N. Bundesen, who received the first information about Russell Thompson.

Von Frantzus, after considerable questioning, told of shipping ten machine guns to Thompson at Kirkland, Ill., where Thompson used the first name of Frank. Yesterday he and Thompson were telling of all their machine gun transactions, without reservation.

Tells of Gun Deliveries.

Von Frantzus, who is a sporting goods dealer and with no past criminal record, said that business was bad and he consented to a proposition put to him by Thompson. He would make $55 on each machine gun he sold, he stated, and he made deliveries to Thompson in Chicago.

Then dummy packages were made up in Von Frantzus' store and shipped to Thompson by express to some designated town in northern Illinois. Thompson called for the packages, which usually contained a few bricks, and tossed them into a river. Von Frantzus was protected thereby, being able to show legitimate sales of guns, shipped by express to various persons.

Thompson said he could afford three of the machine guns to Shupe and three to Jackson. He is presumed to have given the names of the purchasers of the four other guns, but the names were withheld by the prosecutors, who believe they will soon be able to name all the men who took part in the north side killings.

Question Mrs. Thompson.

Mrs. Thompson was called into the detective bureau yesterday morning from Kirkland. She was questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Ditchburne on several points of her husband's testimony, and, after corroborating his statements, she was allowed to return to Kirkland.

Jack McGurn, first to be arrested and charged with the seven murders, and who was released yesterday by Harold C. Hayes, owner of the Fernside Hotel, 64th street and Cottage Grove avenue, scheduled the hotel building, valued at $1,800,000, for his bail. Hayes gave his own address as 2300 Michigan avenue, the Metropole hotel, where Alphonse Capone and Jack Cusick formerly made their headquarters.

McGurn's release was made possible by the unwillingness of the state to proceed at this time with his trial or to disclose all the evidence there is against him and also Scallid, who was released Wednesday. The prosecutors said they hope to have more of the killers in custody before they begin the trial.

EXPERT TRACES FATAL BULLETS IN MURDER TRIAL

Maj. Calvin Goddard, armament expert, appeared before a jury in Judge John P. McCourt's Criminal court yesterday with his blackboard and microscope and showed how science, by means of peculiar marks made on every bullet fired from a firearm, can trace the bullet to the gun.

Maj. Goddard testified for the state against George Maloney, who is charged with the murders of Hugh [Stub] McGovern, and William [Gunner] McFadden, last December in the Granda's cafe. Although the cafe was crowded when the duel took place between the rival gangsters, not one eyewitness is available to charge Maloney with the killing.

Circumstantial evidence built around the testimony of Maj. Goddard is the only hope of Assistant State's Attorneys Charles Mueller and Charles Dougherty for conviction. Maj. Goddard told the jury that undoubtedly the two bullets were fired from one of the guns in evidence.

The state's lawyer is unable to show that the gun was in Maloney's hands. Police testified that he had a pistol in his hand and that after a struggle on the floor with a policeman the revolver was found close by, but Attorney W. W. O'Brien for the defense contends that it was not Maloney's pistol. The gun, according to Maj. Goddard, was the one used more than a year ago in the murder of Tom Johnson, south side gambler.

ABANDONED BABY DIES.

A 2 month old boy, who was abandoned on the porch of the home of William A. Wallace, 232 North Avenue, died yesterday afternoon. He was found in the Highland Park hospital of exposure. Nothing to indicate the identity of the child was found.

SLOT MACHINE RING'S DOWNFALL LAID TO GREED

Prosecutor Learns of Cheating Member.

Evidence to be presented at the trial of the twenty-eight men, including Dr. William H. Reid, Thompson political leader and former city official, and six police captains, will show that the downfall of the syndicate came through cheating by one of its members, it was learned yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers. This member, the prosecutor said, was greedy for more than his just share of the profits.

Wm. E. Keeney, the man who first confessed and brought about the exposure of the huge syndicate, was tripped up by the fact that the prosecutors learned from police department records that confiscated slot machines had found their way back to his hands from the office of the police custodian. When confronted with these facts, Keeney confessed, and it was then an easy matter, the prosecutors said, to get others to do the same rather than stand a chance of indictment.

Explain Work of System.

Keeney was allotted so many machines to each police district, it was reported, and the captain would be apprised of the location of each syndicate machine. If 50 machines were seized, the captain, for a certain district, Keeney would put in perhaps a dozen more, it was charged. The captain of the district, finding more than the allotted number, would pick off the supposed "wildcat" machines and they would be confiscated and sent to the custodian's office.

Keeney, through other channels, would get the machines returned, the prosecutor said, and they ultimately were found in his place when it was raided. Some of the machines were also found in the place of Alex Levine. The numbers corresponded exactly with those supposed to be in the police vaults.

Ayers Slept on O'Brien.

Prosecutor Ayers persisted in his refusal yesterday to say whether James N. [High Pockets] O'Brien, the apparent head of the syndicate outside of the political insiders, has fled from the office of the police custodian.

When confronted with these facts, Keeney confessed, and it was then an easy matter, the prosecutors said, they were among those released on bond. The others will be given a few days to appear before the sheriff tries to collect.

O'Brien, it became known yesterday, was a familiar figure on the course of the Olympia Fields Golf club, near his expensive home in Flushing. It was reported that the board of managers of the club is about to order his dismission from membership.

Known as Good Golfer.

O'Brien was a South Halsted street saloonkeeper before he reached the stage of wealth through his slot machine connections. He last played golf with Police Captain Michael Tobin, it was reported at the club yesterday. He was a good golfer player and liked to boast of his prowess with the clubs. Prosecutor Ayers was told.

He also was a heavy gambler when he could find time outside of his work. O'Brien's average score is 80, it was learned. O'Brien is more than 6 feet tall, weighs about 250 pounds, and is known as a good dresser.

Police Commissioner Russell said yesterday that he was still undecided on the course to follow as to the indicted captains. It appeared that the method of the Thompson administration not to suspend, at least until conviction, would be followed. The commissioner said State's Attorney Swanson had made no demand on him for the suspension of the indicted captains.

The sign read: "Demand insurance. Protect your neighborhood tailor and cleaner who displays this sign: Safety First. Your garments injured against fire and burglary. Only this emblem gives protection." Below appeared: "Local No. 1772, American Federation of Labor."

Charge Bomb Threat.

Rutkin noticed police when Crystal took up his work in front of the Rutkin's shop. Rutkin said Crystal previously had hinted to him that his place would be bombed if he did not buy some insurance.

Crystal refused to talk about his "business" or to reveal the name of his associates to Lieut. Thomas O'Hare of Fillmore street station. He was arraigned before Judge Harry Haglin on a charge of loitering.

Three Nurses Are Burned in Hospital Steam Blast

Three nurses at the Ravenswood hospital were slightly burned yesterday when a steam pressure sterilizer which they were using exploded, showering them with boiling water and steam. Those injured are Delta Richford, 29 years old; Virginia Davis, 29 years old, and Mrs. Everett Watson, 45 years old. All reside at the hospital.

REDS TERRORIZE BERLIN; 3 SLAIN AS RIOTS GO ON

Police Fail in Attempt to Storm Barricades.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Copyright: 1929 by The Chicago Tribune.
BERLIN, May 3.—At midnight tonight regular warfare was going on between communists and police in the vicinity of Koenigsstrasse and Neue Strasse. The Reds raided the nearby streets, terrorized civilians and tore down lamp posts while other gangs were fortifying themselves behind bar-riques.

The police tried for an hour to seize the Reds' first barricade, which were thrown up. Thirty communists were killed and about 20 wounded. The bar-riques are now six feet high. The Reds had eight blocks in Hermannstrasse, including the avenue to Berlin's aviation field.

The police have decided to wait until morning and give the Reds a chance to slip off quietly and avoid the bloodshed and fighting.

Storm Police Station.

A mob of 500 youths tried for the second time tonight to storm the police station on the Schiller promenade.
The station sent an urgent appeal for help. An automobile column of 30 men, with an armored car and steel helmets, rushed to the rescue of the house from which shots were not at the police station, where a lieutenant and twelve men were shot by an infuriated mob. They only were freed by the armored car, at the sight of which the mob fled.

Bulletins that their coup had failed, a leader of the communists addressed the Red front fighters behind the Neuhauser barricades.

"Save your strength for the day when the whole of the proletariat is ready to fight. There is no revolutionary situation in Germany at present such as Lenin would have recognized. Therefore, go home and save yourself."

As a result the Red garrison is growing rapidly.

Workers Refuse to Strike.

The efforts of the communists to stage a general strike as a follow-up of Berlin's bloody May day failed today, but skirmishes between Red juntas and police continued all day.
Scores of Reds were wounded in the mainly proletarian districts and around Berlin's working quarters.

The bulk of the German workers returned to work, disregarding the Red agitators posted at the gates of factories and mines. Only at Hamburg and in the Ruhr district, small groups of workers refused to start work as a protest against "the murder of workers in Berlin."

The communists today staged a protest demonstration in the reichstag, where they sang the internationale and then marched out after engaging

MRS. JOSEPHINE SEEBERGER
LASHER DEAN.

(TRIBUNE Photo.)

J. Clarke Dean Jr. won aistic bout with his wife, Mrs. Josephine Seeberger Lasher Dean, in their apartment at 640 Cass street a few days ago.
Yesterday it was Mrs. Dean, who was married to him in July of last year, who won all the decisions in the legal bout staged in Judge Stanley Klarkowski's court. Mrs. Dean was awarded $15 weekly alimony, $100 attorney's fees, and an injunction restraining her husband from annoying her pending trial of her suit for divorce.

Mrs. Dean, completely recovered from the black eyes she suffered when her husband swung his fist at her, testified that Dean's father, who disherited him at his marriage, had ordered him to marry her, and that he had been compelled to do so because of the stock exchange for his son of the gift given by his wife to August. Her attorney, Harry X. Cole, asserted Dean had been in a mandarin condition since Sunday, and had stationed himself in the lobby of the hotel, sending box after box of flowers to his wife to win her forgiveness. The lobby of the hotel, he said, was a mass of bloom with the rejected gifts.

accused them of deliberately stirring ple to rise up against the government

CRAMER FINDS ALASKA FERTILE AVIATION FIELD

Tells Possibility of Air Route to China.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

(Picture on back page.)
Parker D. Cramer flew into Chicago on his return from the flight from Alaska across the Bering strait to Siberia yesterday with a half grown beard and high enthusiasm for the future of aviation in Alaska and the possibilities it offers for a commercial air route from Chicago to China.

"Shorty," as he is better known among the flying fraternity, was late in his arrival here, but he had not been lost—first reports had it Wednesday night. Instead, he said he was "catching up lost sleep" at La Crosse, Wis., where he had landed because of bad weather in the Chicago region. With him was W. S. Gamble of New York, who accompanied him on the Siberian flight.

No Fanfare for Flight.

Little save curiosity prompted him to make the 19,000 mile air trip from here to the tip of North America and back. Cramer stated: "Without the usual fanfare of publicity, attendant on experimental flights, the pilot and navigator who last year accompanied Bert Hassell in the attempted flight from Rockford to Stockholm, took off three weeks ago and proceeded by easy jumps to Alaska, but it was not until the plane had reached Nome that the purpose of the venture was learned.

"The trip was made to see if it wasn't possible to fly over the region in a stock plane with a stock motor and without previous arrangements for fuel, repair bases, landing fields etc." Cramer said. "I have concluded from our experience that the logical route to Asia is by way of Alaska as the logical way to Europe is by way of Labrador, Greenland, and Iceland.
There seems to be little sense in flying over great expanses of water when the destination can be reached with comparatively safe flying over land.

Very Little Water Flying.

Contrary to popular opinion, Alaska offers few obstacles to the flyer. While it is mountainous, there are a great number of small lakes and rivers with sandbars and flat land surrounding them. An amphibian with more than one motor, equipped to alight on land or water, would have no trouble in flying over the country. The longest water hop over the Bering strait is thirty miles. The rest of the journey is made over small islands."

The Cessna monoplane, a four passenger cabin ship powered with a Warner motor, in which Cramer made the flight, was fitted with skis over most of the Alaskan journey. On its wings and fuselage when it arrived here were hundreds of penciled names scrawled there by the natives.

Cramer expects to proceed to New York today. "If this weather keeps up," he said yesterday, "I'm going back to Alaska to get warm."

SENATORS CUT CORNER TO RUSH SALES BILL OUT

Committee Approves It Without Meeting.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Springfield, Ill., May 2.—[Special.] What experienced observers call a beautiful exemplification of the state senate's readiness to cut any or all parliamentary corners occurred today.

Two days ago the committee on judiciary tabled a bill for a uniform conditional sales act—a law to regulate for the benefit of both buyer and seller such transactions as purchases of installments or on the time payment basis of all sorts of wares, ranging from railroad rolling stock and automobiles to oil burners, vacuum cleaners, and radio sets.

Today, without the committee even having been called together, a report was presented to the secretary of the senate saying that the judiciary committee recommended the bill for passage. It will be on next Monday's calendar on first reading.

Bill Vanished Two Years Ago.

There might not have been such widespread comment about this incident had it not been for the history of this piece of legislation. Two years ago a similar bill passed the senate. In transit between the senate and the house it disappeared. In spite of legal efforts to duplicate the bill it was sent again to the house and was passed, and again when the bill was being sent back to the senate it disappeared. This time there was an explosion. On the floor of the house there were open charges that the bill had been stolen. Copies of a telegram asking financial help to defeat the bill were displayed. They had been sent out from Springfield by a representative of an association of financing companies.

The house in its indignation sent a special committee of three to the senate chamber to investigate the alleged theft. They questioned senate employees fruitlessly, glared at one or two suspected senators, and hunted vainly. The document was gone. This was the last night of the session. Nothing could be done about it. Enactment was successfully prevented.

House Group Worked Hard.

This year several conditional sales bills were introduced in the house and referred to the judiciary committee. A hard working subcommittee was appointed. It went through all the proposals, listened to experts advising an act uniform with the legislation of other states and produced a bill that became a pet of the whole judiciary committee and was approved by the house.

When it came up in the senate the committee, a single development between Chairman James J. Barbour and Senator Victor P. Michel. During the hostilities a motion to table the measure was carried without any discussion of the merits or demerits of the bill.

Yesterday there was only one development. House members spread the word that their committee intended to retaliate by throwing down a few senate bills. This brought some additional pressure into action.

"The judiciary committee didn't meet," admitted one of them, "but we agreed to let the bill come out of committee."

Quiet Canvass Did Trick.

Inquiry developed that Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet, made a quiet canvass of the committee members while they were on the floor of the senate, and proposed that the bill be reported out. Apparently there was no objection, and Chairman Barbour submitted the "committee report."

In brief, the bill requires that all conditional sales shall be filed with the county recorder and set forth in the contracts as to both the buyers and the sellers as to contracts, repossessions, indemnities, resales and other features of this line of business.

STRIKER GUILTY OF KIDNAPING KENOSHA WORKER

Kenosha, Wis., May 2.—[Special.]

Elmer Hackbarth, 23, Allen, a striker in the Kenosha garment workers' strike, was found guilty of participation in the kidnapping and unlawful confinement of Harold Hendrickson, 26, Allen, a kidney patient, in the Circuit court here today.

Judge S. E. Smalley announced he would sentence Hackbarth Monday. The penalty is one to 15 years in the penitentiary. The conviction came in the first major trial growing out of Kenosha's labor dispute.

POLICE REFUSE TO RELEASE CAR, BUT MR. HOSKINS MAY

But Owner Must Pay
$8.25 for Towing.

Paul Weissman, 5498 Hyde Park boulevard, may receive his automobile today from the Hoskins garage, 85 West Illinois street, through the gracefulness of Thomas T. Hoskins, the proprietor. Weissman found yesterday that the owner of an automobile which has been towed to the Hoskins garage has much less influence with the Lincoln park police force than the garage proprietor.

Weissman's automobile was wrecked in a collision with a Yellow cab at Sheridan road and Broadway Monday night. He had ordered the car towed to a nearby garage when Lincoln Park Policeman Harry Rafferty and Frank Lewis, the latter an ex-barber, appeared and roughly ordered the machine taken to the Hoskins garage, six miles away.

With Dr. Harry Kargau, who was Weissman's companion on the night of the accident, Weissman yesterday visited the garage for his automobile. He was presented with a bill for $8.25 for towing and storage and told that he must both pay the bill and get a release from the police. When he asked for the release at the Lincoln Park station, they told him that his automobile had damaged a light post and that he was to be held accountable.

The release was refused. Both Weissman and Dr. Kargau said they had witnesses to prove that the damage to the light post was done when the Yellow cab forced the Weissman car into the post. The Yellow cab was allowed to be towed away to its own garage.

Returning to the Hoskins garage, Weissman told his troubles to Hoskins.

ILLEGIT DIAMOND DIGGING ENRICHES AFRICAN FARMERS

Sell Thousand Carat Gems to Travelers.

BY FRANK BURTON.

[Copyright 1929 by The Chicago Tribune.]
CAPE TOWN, South Africa, May 1.—A diamond expert just returned from Namaland says that illicit diamond buying is rampant there, not only in the state diggings and those belonging to Consolidated Diamonds of South Africa, but on farms in the inland, where farmers sink wells looking for water but take out many stones in thousand carat sizes. These they openly offer for sale to travelers. Row boats, motor boats and fishing tr. will play a big part in the poaching of stones north and south of the Orange river.

People Made Rich.

In a month the people of Namaland have made eight million dollars. Some farmers are riding about in expensive motor cars, where before they used or wagons. If the car is damaged in an accident it is promptly replaced with a new one. The early days of Kimberley are completely eclipsed and the government will require a whole army to stop the illicit diamond dealing.

Justice Hutton, discharging a jury in West Griqualand today, said the extraordinary feature of the calendar had been the large number of illicit diamond cases.

People National Calamity.

The recent discovery of so many alluvial diamond fields seems to have made men who hitherto led blameless lives give way to temptations in a frantic haste to acquire wealth.

ACTRESS FIGHTS TO HANDLE DEAD MATE'S
ESTATE OF $25,000

New York, May 2.—(Special)—Margaret Lawrence, actress, accused of being unfit to serve as administratrix of the $25,000 estate of her husband, Wallace Eddinger, a comedian, defended herself at a hearing today before Surrogate's Court.

The court received decision after hours of testimony and that of her mother-in-law, Mrs. May Eddinger of Amityville, L. I., who charges Miss Lawrence with drunkenness and improvidence.

John Zwield, manager of the Eltinge theater, testified that, at the instance of Edgar Selwyn, producer of the play "Possession," in which Miss Lawrence was starred last fall, he visited her home to ascertain the reason for her nonappearance at a rehearsal.

On two occasions, he asserted, he found the actress in what he believed was an inebriated condition.

A physician and two nurses were attending her, he added.

Rose McDermott, her maid, told the court that she had served gin and whisky to her mistress occasionally in the presence of the latter's children.

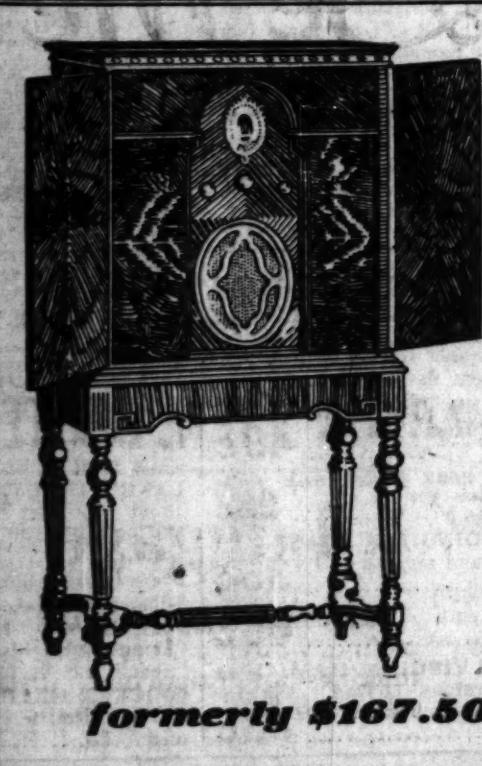

Miss Lawrence denied she had been drinking when Zwield visited her and explained her indisposition had been due to an illness suffered after she was struck by a taxicab.

The actress took particular exception to the maid's testimony that she had drunk alcoholic liquor before her two young daughters. Once she wept and pleaded, "O, must you drag my children into this?"

To refute the charge of improvidence, Miss Lawrence told of owning property in Park avenue and in Studio City, Calif., and that she not only sent her sisters through college but was spending a considerable sum for her daughter's education. She said her salary varied from $800 to $1,000 a week.

part in the gamble. As a very small proportion are successful and the majority have been reduced to a state of dire poverty, the discovery of these alluvial fields has so far proved a national calamity.

U. S. WILLING TO LET POWERS PILE UP WAR MATERIAL

Gives Up Fight to Limit Reserve Stocks.

BY ROBERT SAGE.

Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
GENEVA, May 2.—Lord Balfour's note on war debts and labor's recent "repudiation" of its principle had another airing in parliament tonight, this time in the house of lords.

Lord Birkenhead, in order to call attention to the subject of war indemnities, moved that this house approves the principle of the Balfour memorandum.

Of the note itself, by which Great Britain claimed from its debtors so much as was needed for meeting her own external war debt, Lord Birkenhead said, "No greater gesture was ever made by any country which suffered from wounds which almost destroyed it."

It was hoped the memorandum proposal might have been accepted by the United States, Lord Birkenhead asserted, but "it was found not to be accepted. I am making neither criticism nor complaint. The American nation, whose international character, privately exercised, had been on a scale which the world had previously never known, and whose humanity sentiment none had ever been foolish enough to impeach, did not take an inspiring view of the Balfour memorandum."

No Complaint Against U. S., but—

Had they done so, said Lord Birkenhead, "it would have been a most suitable conclusion to a great perilous comradeship in arms."

He pointed out that there had been no complaints of the step America took:

"They were masters of their own financial policy as Great Britain was of theirs," Lord Birkenhead said.

"But it should go out to the world that Great Britain at the end of the war was prepared to forego every debt owed it on the basis of complete debt cancellation. We never had the credit from the world that we were entitled to for that matter."

Although England alone is paying the United States upon a scale which would affect the scale of living with the government.

EXPECT MILLION TO PARTICIPATE IN BOYS' WEEK

Coming at a time when Chicago has never been more apprehensive regarding its youth, Boys' week will this year claim the attention of more people than ever before, according to E. L. Burchard, executive secretary of the Boys' Week federation. More than 1,000,000 persons are expected to take part in the ceremonies during the week of May 19-25.

The program is under the direction of George W. Dixon, president of the Boys' Week federation. Sunday, May 19, will be boys' day in church, with Dean Shaler Mathews, Msgr. C. J.

Quille, and Rabbi Gerson Levi as chairmen. Monday will be boys' day at home and with the radio.

Tuesday will be boys' spare time day, sponsored by the Boy Scouts association, with Burridge Butler, chairman, and E. Urner Goodman, vice chairman. Wednesday, boys' day in industry, will be led by the Rotary clubs and Chicago Association of Commerce. Thursday the Kiwanis clubs, with Dr. Thomas A. Carter, chairman, will observe boys' day in health.

Friday, boys' day in school and citizenship, special programs will be held at schools. Soldiers' field, and in the Auditorium in the evening, with presentation of awards. The last day Edward C. Delaporte will direct athletics and neighborhood activities in community centers.

All Proposals Rejected.

You have rejected all proposals to limit materials," the Red delegates said,

"and if no elements of war are going to be reduced you might as well leave the budgets alone."

Hen W. Wadell, delegate for Sweden, pointed out that a limitation of materials was confined to the budgets no consideration was to be taken of material on hand.

Mr. Gibson, who favors the German-soviet proposal for direct publicity being given to materials, declared that the United States was a strong partisan of the utmost publicity in all matters concerned with the limitation and the reduction of armaments.

However, despite the stout opposition of the countries possessing small armies, it appears that the big army powers are going to get their way once more, thus winding up the land armament debates with conditions exactly the same as they were before the session opened.

Will Not Discuss Navies.

GENEVA, May 2.—(UPI)—Complete agreement has been reached by the big five naval powers to refrain from detailed examination of the naval problem at the present session of the preparatory disarmament commission. It was learned tonight.

The American delegation declined to discuss the matter. From other sources it was learned also that the powers had agreed to refrain from appointing a naval committee to work on the problem in the light of the recent American proposals.

British House of Lords Chides America on War Debt Stand

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 2.—Lord Balfour's note on war debts and labor's recent "repudiation" of its principle had another airing in parliament tonight, this time in the house of lords.

Lord Birkenhead, in order to call attention to the subject of war indemnities, moved that this house approves the principle of the Balfour memorandum.

Lord Balfour, Labor spokesman in the house of lords, who moved the amendment regretting the unfairness of the debt settlement to British taxpayers, was at some pains to explain the word "repudiation" in Mr. Snowden's speech as meaning nothing more than what would be open for the future government to revise the agreement by consent of the other parties. Lord Parmaor was specially emphatic in declaring the Labor party never dreamed of repudiating the Balfour memorandum.

Then, challenged by Lord Birkenhead regarding the adjective "infamous," Lord Parmaor admitted frankly, "I do not like the epithet. I would not put weight on terminological exaggerations in the form of epithets of this kind."

Motion Is Carried.

Upon this point the Marquess of Reading, in a subsequent debate, observed that Mr. Snowden had not taken the opportunity of expressing regret regarding the epithet. On behalf of the Liberal party the Marquess "desired to state emphatically that we hold firmly to the principle of continuity of contractual international obligations entered into on behalf of his majesty's government."

Eventually Lord Birkenhead's motion was carried without division, after the Parmaor amendment had been rejected by eighty-six votes against six. Liberal peers voting with the government.

BRITISH WOMEN OPEN CRUSADE TO MAKE PEACE REAL

LONDON, May 2.—Strong in the power of a voting majority of two and a half millions, British women are waging a great peace crusade throughout the country to make international peace an election issue. "Make the Kellogg past a reality!" is their slogan.

Twenty-eight of the important women's organizations in Great Britain are cooperating with the women's peace crusade and a similar group of American women's societies, headed by the conference on the cause and cure of war and the Town Women's Christian association, are giving the British women support in their campaign.

The crusade is headed by Lady Astor, chairwoman of the committee, and Mrs. Pathick-Lawrence, honorary treasurer.

"Among the well known women supporting the movement are Lady Astor, Mrs. Corbett Ashby, Mrs. Curtis Brown, president of the American Women's club, London; Miss Margaret Berndfield, Viscountess Cecil; Dame Margaret Lloyd George, Viscountess Gladstone.

Then, challenged by Lord Birkenhead regarding the adjective "infamous," Lord Parmaor admitted frankly, "I do not like the epithet. I would not put weight on terminological exaggerations in the form of epithets of this kind."

Upon this point the Marquess of Reading, in a subsequent debate, observed that Mr. Snowden had not taken the opportunity of expressing regret regarding the epithet. $250,000 PHONE FUND FAILS TO WIN IN COUNCIL Action Deferred; Probe Litigation Expenses.

Expenses incurred by the city in the litigation against the Illinois Bell Telephone company were under examination in the city council yesterday as a request for an additional $250,000 was recommended by the finance committee. A detailed account of the payments made in the franchise negotiations with the company was also demanded.

The aldermen, Charles S. Eaton [8th], and Arthur D. Albert [4th], began their attack on the appropriation measure when an order was introduced directing Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the gas-oil committee which is handling the franchise, to approve the expense vouchers. The council fracas had been preceded by a controversy over the subject in the finance committee meeting earlier in the day.

Asks for Detailed Account.

"The 1929 budget shows an item of $50,000 credited to the gas-oil committee to meet the franchise expenses," said Ald. Eaton. "How much of that has been spent?" When he learned that less than half of the amount has been used, he asked for a detailed account of the expenditures.

The appropriation bill turns over the quarter of a million dollars to the gas-oil committee, to be used for the litigation in the federal court, although Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Etelson has charge of the lawyers handling the case. Mr. Etelson has an appropriation of $28,000 to be used to employ lawyers and engineers in public utility litigation, including the Surface Lines and the elevated company.

"This involves an appropriation of $250,000," Ald. Albert expostulated. "That is a tremendous sum in view of Chicago's present financial condition."

See Law Violated.

"The American Telephone and Telegraph company is operating contrary to law by leasing the facilities of the Illinois Bell company," he continued. "A franchise from the city cannot be subleased in that manner.

If the corporation counsel wants to serve the people, the first step to take is to compel them to obey the law. That should be done, no matter who is interested in the companies, King George not excepted."

The application was ordered deferred and published by the council and will come up for passage at the next meeting, May 15. In the finance committee meeting, Ald. E. I. Frankhauser [49th] asked for a setup showing how the money is to be expended, and Ald. Guy Guernsey [8th] warned the aldermen that there is no apparent source from which the money can be taken.

HOMER GALPIN'S WIFE, TWO NIECES IN COPENHAGEN

(Chicago Tribune Press Service) COPENHAGEN, May 2.—Mrs. Homer K. Galpin of Chicago, with her two nieces in visiting Copenhagen after an extended airplane trip sightseeing in France, Holland, and Germany. Miss Merle Henius, a vocal star of the Milan Opera house, and the daughter of Dr. Max Henius of Chicago, is also visiting Copenhagen and negotiating with the Royal Danish Opera house management.

ELGIN PHYSICIAN GIVEN $3,750 FOR LOSS OF HANDS

The Illinois State Court of Claims yesterday set a value of $2,750 on a physician's hands. The court awarded Dr. A. G. Wittman that amount in damages in his suit for $9,750. While performing an autopsy last summer the physician contracted an infection which necessitated amputation of both his hands at the wrist. Dr. Wittman is assistant superintendent of the Elgin State Hospital for the Insane.

ing it and terraced so that visitors on the several floors of these buildings will look down upon an oblong amphitheater of water and plants.

John Holabird of Chicago submitted a design which opens gradually from the water portal at 18th street until it has a great width at 22d street. In the Holabird scheme the Tower of Science stands between this expanding lagoon and an amphitheater of lagoon just south of the tower.

Crowds Are Provided For.

The movement of the crowds through the grounds received especial attention from Edward H. Bennett of Chicago, who offered as one of the outstanding features of his program a tower over the Hall of Science facing eight lesser towers on the sides of the main lagoon and near the water portal to the north. All of these towers are related to each other as parts of a great complex and are translucent so that light projected from single points in island in the lagoon. Effects of light can be produced upon them much as an organist obtains his effects.

Raymond M. Hood of New York missed the first day of the conference, arriving only last night after serving as the United States member of the international committee to select the prize design for the Columbus Memorial lighthouse in Spain. His drawing for the Chicago fair provides an unsymmetrical arrangement of the buildings of the central group, so that, beginning with a monumental tower at the north end, the buildings cross the lagoon to the west side and continue along the east side. It is Mr. Hood's idea that the visitor would find the arrangement favorable to an unfolding of interest rather than a comprehension of the whole scheme from a single glance.

In addition to the architects already named, there were present Daniel H. Burnham, secretary of the Chicago Centennial, and Allen D. Albert, assistant to the president as a representative of the board of trustees.

SPANISH FLYERS GET BIG WELCOME BY PANAMA CITY

(Chicago Tribune Press Service) PANAMA CITY, May 2.—The Spanish trans-Atlantic flyers, Captain Francisco Jiminez and Ismael Isidro, were given a big ovation by a milling crowd of several thousand persons upon their arrival in Panama City last night. They were cheered along the route of march from the railroad station to the city hall.

The flyers said they have changed their plans and will not fly to New York, but will continue to Guatemala and then to Havana for the inauguration of President Gerardo Machado. They will then return to Spain by ship.

Tomorrow at the Hotel Ambassador

—these wonderful California peaches in a new dessert

Chef Silvy Balera of the Hotel Ambassador who says: "Libby's California Peaches are perfectly ripened, flawless, and of unusual beauty."

TOMORROW this unusual dessert will be served at one of Chicago's leading hotels—the Ambassador. It was created by Silvy Balera, the Ambassador's distinguished chef, and it is made with Libby's California Peaches of the Golden Harvest Year. Peaches that Monsieur Balera says he chooses because "they are perfectly ripened, flawless, and of unusual beauty."

It is not surprising that Monsieur Balera chooses these remarkable Peaches of Libby's. For they are fruit of the most famous peach crop in all the history of the Golden State. A crop so surpassingly fine, so amazingly bountiful that 1928 was acclaimed California's Golden Harvest Year.

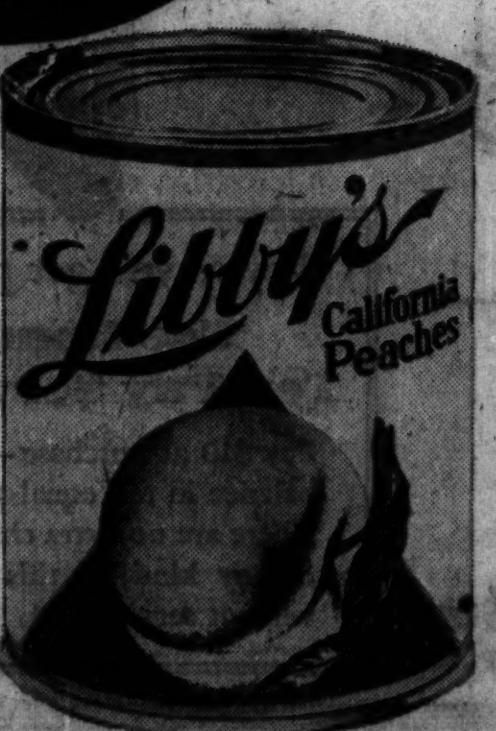

And now the first great shipment has reached Chicago—Libby's California Peaches of the Golden Harvest

Year! A luxury new to many, and at a price within the reach of all!

Glistening, tender gold! Peaches picked on the day of perfect ripeness. Packed in sunlit kitchens with all their natural flavor at its best. Libby's California Peaches! Surprise your family with them at dinner tonight. Your grocer can supply you. Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago.

NEW YELLOW CAB HEAD SAYS TAXIS CAN'T CUT RATES

Reorganize as Parmelee
Co. Takes Control.

Bret H. Miller of New York, new controlling head of the Yellow Cab company of Chicago, held out no hope yesterday that the taxi rates in Chicago will be lowered. Mr. Miller, whose New York taxicab company operates profitably at much lower rates than are charged in Chicago, said it was impossible to bring the fares here on a level with those of the east.

"The rates in Chicago," said Mr. Miller, "are as low as they can be made by any management realizing a responsibility toward the safety and protection of the public."

Parmelee Acquires Control.

Mr. Miller comes to guide the destinies of the Yellow Cab company through a financing operation formalized yesterday. He is chairman of the board and president of the recently formed Parmelee Transportation Company, which as a holding company has acquired control of the Yellow Taxicab Corporation of New York, the Yellow Cab Company of Chicago, and the Parmelee Company of Chicago.

Directors' meetings in the two Chicago companies were held yesterday, Mr. Miller being elected to the board of each company. Charles A. McCullough, who with John Hertz spent many years in building up the companies, has retired from their control, although he agreed to remain until the first of the year. Mr. Hertz withdrew some months ago.

Arthur W. Moore, who has been general manager of the Parmelee company, was elected president of the Yellow Cab company, and Charles J. Conner was chosen president of the Parmelee company.

Martin Lindsay, Frank L. Haverton and Mr. Miller were elected to places on the Parmelee board vacated by John R. Thompson, John Hertz, Harry E. Foreman and P. J. Condon.

Watson amendment to eliminate the export debenture provision is unlikely tomorrow.

Senator Wagner, in discussing the farm problem, offered what was construed as an apology for having taken up the cause of the equalization feature of the old McNary-Haugen bill, so common with the Democrats generally in the last campaign.

"For the last several sessions a number of gentlemen on the Republican side, particularly the so-called spokesmen of the aggrieved farmers pleaded with us to follow them in favor of a great farm remedy," said Senator Wagner. "When this measure became a campaign issue these leaders deserted their army and joined the enemy's camp. They told us that they spoke for the farmers; that they knew what he wanted. The results of the last election no longer justify me in assuming that such is the fact."

"Innocently enough, I believed that with these representatives of the farmers agricultural relief was a non-partisan and non-political matter. But I was wrong. I have since learned that with farm representatives on the other side of the aisle, with very few and very notable exceptions, politics take precedence over farm relief. Such leadership I repudiate. Candidly, I have no faith in it."

Call Hoover Plan Futile.

Senator Wagner described the administration plan of farm relief as an awkward, backhanded, futile and hopeless political gesture.

"Strange to say, it has been condemned most caustically by those who last fall thumped their loudest on the Hoover campaign drum," said Senator Wagner.

"What is it that makes me think that the administration plan is a harmless and helpless creature?" he said. "The reasoning is very plain. The meat of the plan is in the stabilization corporation. This stabilization corporation is but a glorified cooperative. The whole scheme, therefore, stands or falls with the cooperative marketing associations. But we all know that the cooperative is the weak sister of the farm family.

"Should the plan ever become effective—and I doubt it—we are going to see a set of corporations doing as they please and sending the bill to

Copeland Opposes All Bills.

Senator Royal S. Copeland (Dem., N. Y.) assailed all pending farm relief proposals as economically unsound. He described the administration bill as passed by the house as "not worth $50 a dozen."

Senator Peter Norbeck (Rep., S. Dak.), one of the few who voted to include the export debenture provision in the McNary bill as reported from the committee on agriculture, expressed his disappointment over the solution of the farm problem offered by President Hoover.

Senator Tom Connally (Dem., Tex.), in his maiden speech in the senate advocated the debenture plan.

So many other senators are planning to make speeches that a vote on the Watson bill is unlikely to occur before June 1.

Whether Senator Wagner will vote against the administration bill, as all the Senate bill, was not made clear. Senator Copeland said that much as he disliked the administration bill he expected to "hold his nose" and vote for it.

Representative John Q. Tilson (Rep., Ill.) insisted that there is merit in the debenture plan, President Hoover to the contrary notwithstanding.

The house bill contains a somewhat restrictive provision on over-production while there appears to be no restrictive provision in the senate bill," said Mr. Tilson. "Unless proper steps are taken to guard against over-production it is as sure to follow price stimulation as the night is to follow day, and this is especially true of those commodities of which there is usually produced a surplus at the domestic market requirements."

"The one principal difference between the house and the senate bills is in the export debenture provision in the senate bill. Whatever efforts may be made to disguise the intent and purpose of this feature it seems clear to me that, stripped of all nonessentials, it amounts to a direct subsidy to producers of food products shipped abroad, and would necessarily result, first, in furnishing food to foreigners at a cheaper rate than it is supplied to domestic users; and second, that it inevitably would tend to stimulate overproduction in those very lines in which there already is an embarrassing surplus."

Whatever efforts may be made to disguise the intent and purpose of this feature it seems clear to me that, stripped of all nonessentials, it amounts to a direct subsidy to producers of food products shipped abroad, and would necessarily result, first, in furnishing food to foreigners at a cheaper rate than it is supplied to domestic users; and second, that it inevitably would tend to stimulate overproduction in those very lines in which there already is an embarrassing surplus."

The house bill contains a somewhat restrictive provision on over-production while there appears to be no restrictive provision in the senate bill," said Mr. Tilson. "Unless proper steps are taken to guard against over-production it is as sure to follow price stimulation as the night is to follow day, and this is especially true of those commodities of which there is usually produced a surplus at the domestic market requirements."

A PROMISING BEGINNING.

If Ambassador Gibson's remarks at the Geneva armament conference are augury of the skill with which the American rôle is to be played, the people of the United States can afford to be more at ease over the conduct of their international relations than they have had reason to be for a long time. The more one considers the situation created by the statement of the American view, the more one realizes that it was an exceptionally skillful move in the diplomatic game.

We say this without any implication of an intention on the part of Mr. Hoover and our delegation to resort to unscrupulous diplomatic finesse and without any implication of insincerity. On the contrary, the strength of the American statement was in its courageous candor, but the net result was at once to force a showdown upon the issue with which the United States is really concerned. We think this is American diplomacy at its best. Ambassador Gibson did not permit the situation to be taken out of his hands, but by promptly and unequivocally taking the ground it is in our interest to hold, as an able general chooses the ground upon which he intends to do his fighting, he has achieved on the threshold of the conference strategic and tactical advantages which it will be impossible or at any rate difficult to offset.

The American position is one which the European governments must face and deal with or be convicted of opposition to the explicit ends for which these conferences are supposed to be called—namely: the reduction in the burdens of war. Mr. Gibson felicitously labels "war taxed peace" by a procedure which regards the practical facts of relative responsibilities and needs.

The truth of the situation into which we have entered by joining these conferences is that the conspicuous efforts of every government save our own have been to strengthen its own hand with little or no regard for reduction in expenditure upon armament or in absolute armament power. Even after Ambassador Gibson's declaration upon reduction as the objective sought, the conference has proposed to eliminate the term reduction as possibly involving sacrifice of security. The objection is not plausible if Mr. Gibson's corollary of relativity in armament reduction is respected, but it indicates the conspicuous lack of enthusiasm with which the effort really to solve the armament problem is made by the governments of the great powers in Europe. What we have encountered, from the Washington conference to the present one at Geneva, is a determined effort to win national advantages under cover of limitation, and the exhibition of costly and active building by our rivals following the heavy American sacrifice of program and armament leaves no doubt in any mind not beguiled by sentimental formulas that we cannot be too emphatic in the assertion of our own open purpose or in the protection of our own interests from adroit exploitation of our good intentions.

We are greatly heartened by what it should be safe to assume is the President's awareness of the real nature of the forces and motives with which we must deal at Geneva, and by the skill and confidence with which our representatives have placed our demands and purposes before the world. We are disposed to think the correspondents are right in predicting the failure of the conference to accomplish anything, but it seems at any rate that we are not likely to be guillotined into futile sacrifice nor on the other hand to be made a scapegoat if the conference fails. The responsibility for failure at Geneva is going to be placed elsewhere, and if there is substantial accomplishment it must be consistent with the object of reduction and the principle of relative responsibilities. The flurry of official discussion, doubts, and objections already apparent indicates the success of the American challenge and we occupy a strong position for the just protection of our interests and for insistence upon the proper objects of the conference. If our dealing with the technical realization of reduction problems, the practical filling in of the formulas of limitation, if any are adopted, is as firm, clear headed, and able as the assertion of our general principles, we have less to fear from the present conference, if not more to hope, than from any of our experiments in international negotiation since the end of the war.

POINT DE SAIBLE DRIVE.

When the city has the North River drive it must name it. North River drive or North drive or River drive will not do. Any one of the three would be too simple, appropriate, apt and courageous to satisfy a city which has discarded Green Bay road, Robey street, South Water street and other bits of its consonant nomenclature. Such being inevitably the case the name of Chicago's first settler may be placed in nomination again.

None Baptiste Point de Saible has been but little considered. His confidence in the future of Chequago was indicated by his domicile here in 1779. He built the cabin which later was known as the Kindle house. His fortitude was revealed by the fact that he was a native of San Domingo and had come up into the lake region to establish himself in a small business way. The sage he selected speaks for his intelligence. Indians, voyageurs, explorers, and missionaries, including Joliet and Marquette, had thought of Chequago merely as a place between other places, but Jean Baptiste Pointe de Saible saw the great mark of modern commerce.

Boulevard Jean Baptiste Pointe de Saible will look well on the stationery, the street signs and the maps. It will be historically valid, racially generous and in point of class perfect.

A TAX EATING DIET.

The Chicago taxpayer will not feel any security until the legislature has adjourned and may be in a sad case then. The tax bills of last spring threw the consequences of scalawag government in the faces of the people who must pay its bills. Corruption, waste, imbecility, mismanagement, malfeasance, and grand and petty larceny were concentrated in the taxpayers' accounts and the totals nearly knocked their eyes out.

The boys in the front rooms and the boys in the back room had used vacuum cleaners on the till, the cash registers, the strong boxes and bank accounts, and most of the Chicago taxing bodies were flat with nothing which would pass for coin and little which would pass for credit.

The legislature is asked in numerous bills to roll the taxpayer over for another search of his pockets and the demand comes from tax spreading bodies which have shown few signs of reform and regeneration.

There has been in the Chicago citizenship a citizen who is generally regarded as the world's most successful doctor of sick fiscal systems. The Dawes plan. He and his budget associates gave the United States the system under which it is operating and which, incidentally, he says, is not as good as it was planned to be. Nothing in the Caribbean or in Europe so requires the attention of a reorganizer as the affairs of Chicago government. It's too late to use Dawes now. He has an ambassador's job.

It is necessary to starve these public bodies into submission then they must be put on a slim diet. The threats that the city's various functions must be suspended unless the legislature issues blank checks to the administrators of public affairs may be discounted. That remedy feeds the disease.

The municipal corporations should be pinched until they reform themselves thoroughly and permanently. They can do it, but they will not until they are forced to do it to avoid the humiliation of collapsing on their jobs. It is their responsibility to manage on a decent budget and not pay a bountiful gouging of the people who pay taxes. Most of the petitioners in Springfield for authority to boost taxes should be sent home to put their offices in order and prove that they have done so.

THE NATION'S STEPCHILD.

The interstate commerce commission has ordered the railroads to make joint rates with the barge lines which connect with them. The new rail-water and rail-water-rail rates are to cut as much as 20 per cent under the present all rail charges.

Here is tangible evidence of the saving which the lakes to gulf waterway can bring about in Illinois. Chicago manufacturers and merchants have already learned to use the barge lines and it is likely that the new rate schedules will attract more Chicago business to the waterways, but neither Chicago nor downstate communities, with the exception of those which are located on the Mississippi, are deriving anything like the benefits to which they are entitled from the barge services.

Four years have elapsed since the drainage canal, the principal link between the lakes and the gulf, was projected and nearly thirty years since the main channel was completed. Still we have no barges at Chicago. The benefit of joint rail and barge rates are considerable, but of course they are far less than could be expected if the barges tied up at docks in Chicago. Illinois congressmen have been derelict in serving their constituents. Commercial associations have been scarcely less derelict.

The lack of vision with respect to the inland waterways of this country is astonishing. The railroads under private ownership quickly established their connection into Chicago, for without the Chicago terminal they could not prosper. The airplane lines, also under private management, have established Chicago as the center of the nation's air transport in spite of inadequate landing facilities. The logic which forced railroads and air lines to concentrate here has not yet been appreciated in congress, which controls the water highways.

Editorial of the Day

MINNESOTA'S GAG LAW.

(New York Herald-Tribune.)

Again the American Newspaper Publishers' association has adopted a fighting resolution against the Minnesota press gag law that permits a judge to kill outright a newspaper which, in his opinion, "regularly publishes malicious, scandalous, and defamatory matter." The association voted unanimously on Wednesday to work for the repeal of this outrageous statute, under which the Saturday Press of Minneapolis was suppressed without a jury trial. Col. Robert R. McCormick of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, lead in the battle, reported to the publishers that no effort is being spared to obtain a review of the case by the Supreme Court of the United States.

If the Minnesota law is valid freedom of the press can be destroyed by the legislature of any state. Sitting without a jury, a county judge enjoined the Saturday Press from publication as a nuisance because of its attacks on alleged municipal corruption in Minneapolis. The constitution of Minnesota says: "The liberty of the press shall forever remain inviolate, and all persons may freely speak, write and publish their sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of such right." Col. McCormick observes:

"Freedom of the press" means security against measures resorted to by any department of the government for the purpose of muzzling public opinion, and the phrase "responsibility for the abuse of the right" means responsibility before a jury, which is the only body which has a right to determine it. This statute is the first attempt of a legislature since the foundation of the Union to gag the press in so drastic a manner."

What the Minnesota statute does is to authorize capital punishment of a newspaper by the fiat of a single judge. It threatens instant death as the penalty of utterances that may be actionable in the usual legal process. Moderate enough in the assertion of the American Newspaper Publishers' association that "said statute is one of the gravest assaults upon the liberties of the people that has been attempted since the adoption of the constitution."

None Baptiste Point de Saible has been but little considered. His confidence in the future of

REDA

TRINITY.

Three Gods there are: God of Infinity, Who moves among the endless nebulae, Sowing and gleaming stars, with strides sublime, Beyond the reach and ravaging of Time;

The God of Beauty, whose unstinting hand Arrays in April's hue the luscent land, Moids mighty mountains, fashions lofty trees, Carves crags from rocks and billows from the sea;

And the great God of Love, whose heavenly grace Shines in each new madonna's holy face And mirror, as the pool reflects the skies, In every cooing babe's responding eyes.

Sometimes I think this wondrous trinity Of Love, of Beauty, and Infinity Abides, unheeded by their conscious ken, Immortal in the hearts of mortal men.

EOLIA.

—3—

Once More Unto the

Breach, Dear Friends,

Yes, it's an unpleasant task, but we have to do it. As we told you yesterday, Secretary Stimson has taken to apologizing for newspaper persons when they criticize any member of the foreign diplomatic corps in Washington. We don't see why, but he insists. Therefore, we have decided to insult a member of the foreign diplomatic corps until Sec. Stimson apologizes for us. Having accomplished our object we will then gracefully retire. Yesterday we said that the minister from Spain was nothing else, when all was said and done, but a latitudinarian and we could prove it. Today we shall insult the minister from Brazil, and likewise the one from Ecuador. We accordingly do most deliberately and with a full knowledge of what we are saying declare that the minister to the U. S. A. is a parallelopipedon. And that goes double for the minister from Ecuador. Now, Sec. Stimson, a little plain or garden apologizing to these gentlemen, please.

Where God Planted

a Garden—A Garden of Sleep

We were going along perfectly all right yesterday, saying nothing to nobody and trying to keep from freezing to death (the cold air neds had opened wide all the office windows) when all of a sudden—PLUNK!—right down in the very middle of our desk flopped the National Geographic Magazine for May. Oh gosh! It was all off then!

"Down Devon Lanes" was the first story that met our eyes. Get the behind us, Satan, said we, pleadingly, and push! And then we looked at the pictures of misty mornings over Combe Martin, ancient cottages at Drewstowton with roses and sunshine throwing shadows across worn stone steps. Berrybarrow and Cockington, Little Hang Hill, and the wide, sweet fields of Doone Valley. No good! From Devon, that devilish magazine proceeded to London and tantalized us with the fly shrouded Tudor walls of St. James' Palace and we swear we could hear the hand playing St. Julian's gay music while scarlet-coated guards marched and turned and marched again before our eyes . . . to the clamor and bustle of the Strand emptying into Trafalgar Square, where George III still turns his back on George Washington (Bill Thompson, please write) . . . Next to the rhododendrons and dahlias, the lupines and crocuses proceeded to London and tantalized us with the fly shrouded Tudor walls of St. James' Palace and we swear we could hear the hand playing St. Julian's gay music while scarlet-coated guards marched and turned and marched again before our eyes . . . to the clamor and bustle of the Strand emptying into Trafalgar Square, where George III still turns his back on George Washington (Bill Thompson, please write) . . . Norris, Walsh Continue to Deadlock Committee.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service) Washington, D. C., May 2.—Another two hours session today failed to break the senate judiciary committee deadlock over the question whether Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, because of stock holdings in various enterprises, holds office illegally.

We've a variety of models—all of them correct, but differing considerably in details to meet the individual requirements of good dressing.

Single breasted sack suits in either two or three button models; some with notched lapels, some peaked. Some fit snugly; others not so snug.

All the necessary variety of models in fabrics to please the most exacting taste.

SINCLAIR SENTENCE TO BE ORDERED INTO EFFECT ON MONDAY

Washington, D. C., May 2.—The District of Columbia trial court which sentenced Harry F. Sinclair to three months in jail and fined him $500 will be ordered by the Supreme court on Monday to carry its verdict into effect.

The mandate of the highest court, which on April 8 affirmed the oilman's conviction for contempt in refusing to answer questions put to him by the senate oil committee, has been prepared and will be mailed Saturday to the clerk of the District of Columbia Supreme court.

The court's rules prescribed 35 days before presentation of the mandate, unless it is expedited. This period expires tomorrow.

George P. Hoover of Sinclair's counsel said he had no intention of seeking to delay serving of the sentence.

Lawyers S. Wilson, director of district panel institutions, said today that whether the oil man would be held in the Washington asylum and jail or the district workhouse at Occoquan, Va., depended on his health.

Here's What Mellon Said.

"If there was anything of importance in the way of policy or something like that, I think I usually was consulted," is the statement attributed to Mr. Mellon in the deposition. Senators Norris and Walsh contend that statement upholds their contention that his interest in the Aluminum company is sufficiently great to bar him from the treasury post under an old law, which prohibits the treasury secretary from direct or indirect interest in the company.

In the deposition which was made public today, Mr. Mellon asserted that he had been interested in the Aluminum company from its organization but that he had resigned his directorship in 1921 when he entered the Harding cabinet. For the last twenty years, he asserted, his participation in the affairs of the Aluminum company and the Duke interests.

"I should say," declared Mr. Mellon, "that for over twenty years I have not been in touch with the affairs of the business other than professionally." Arthur V. Davis, the president, when something would come up in conversation. But I was not generally consulted. Of course, if there was anything of importance in the way of policy or something like that, I think I usually was consulted."

Drops Active Connection.

"In the early days, I was closely in touch with it," continued Mr. Mellon, in response to other questions, according to the deposition, "but later on I was very much occupied, even before I went to Washington, in other undertakings, and so I did not keep an active connection with the company in the sense of knowing all the trades that were made or the developments. For a good many years

FEARS U.S. RULING ON ALIENS MAY BAR CANADIANS

Girl Asks Court to Rehear Border Crossing Case.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special]—Fears that under its recent decision even native born Canadians may be barred from crossing the border daily to and from employment in the United States.

The petition contends that the "business" adopted by the court, "no business" admitted as an immigrant and having a status "immigrant," definitely have abandoned his domicile in Canada and established a new home side domicile in the United States.

The petition argues that under a strict interpretation of the court's decision, even a native born Canadian desiring to work in the United States must enter as an immigrant and having a status "immigrant," definitely have abandoned his domicile in Canada and established a new home side domicile in the United States.

Ferris Night to Holden,

"If such a native Canadian who comes for work or employment only temporarily or as a committer is admitted as an 'immigrant' and departs at the end of his daily or periodic employment to resume his domicile in the Dominion, he thereby abandons his status as a resident of the United States and forfeits his right to reenter."

Hence upon his reappearance the following day or week he would be again required to produce an unexpired immigration visa and pay a new head tax.

In its decision early in April the Supreme court declared, before the quota law was enacted, that it cannot be supposed that congress intended by admitting aliens temporarily for business to permit their coming to labor for hire in competition with American workers, whose protection it was one of this main purposes of the legislation to secure."

Brief for Rehearing.

In their brief for a rehearing of the case, attorneys for Mary Cook, a Scotch girl, and Antonio Danielson, an Italian born naturalized British citizen, contend that under the decision all aliens may be prevented from entering.

Produce Power Site Contract.

Mr. Mellon admitted in the deposition that he had discussed and probably suggested the acquisition of Canadian power sites by the aluminum company, but he denied that he had taken an active part in the transaction or in the merger of the Aluminum company and the Duke interests. Senator D. A. Reed (Rep., Pa.), yesterday produced the power site contract showing that Mr. Mellon's brother, R. B. Mellon, signed the document.

Following today's executive session of the committee, Senator Norris admitted that no progress had been made toward settlement of the controversy and added that "I have not the remotest idea when the committee will reach a vote."

CITY TO ATTEMPT TO REGAIN TAXES PAID BY 'EXPERTS'

Collection of $700,000 that was paid to the government in income taxes by the real estate "experts" defendants in the suit brought by The Tribune, will be undertaken by the city, it was announced yesterday. The council finance committee recommended an appropriation of $10,000 for this purpose, which will come up for passage at the next meeting of the city council, May 15.

Three methods of obtaining the money for the city treasury can be followed, according to J. A. Schiller, the sole representative of the city in The Tribune suit, who will handle the litigation. A claim is to be filed with the tax commissioner first. If the claim is not allowed, the city can go into court on appeal. The final resort is to introduce the claim before congress, Attorney Schiller said.

Make pure, home-made soap this easy way—

NO BOILING

You know there's nothing like pure, home-made soap for washing clothes. They seem to always get cleaner and whiter and use so much less rubbing. And, of course, home-made soap is easy on your hands. That's because the soap you make yourself is free from injurious chemicals and fillers, and because all the beneficial natural glycerin is left in.

And then consider what you save. You can make wonderful hard soap with Lewis' Lye now or he can easily get it for you. To safeguard your own interests, it's a wise investment. Lewis' Lye is so easy with Lewis' Lye, too. Just read for the interesting and valuable recipe book shown at the left. It will tell you exactly how to make fine hard-soap without boiling; how you can quickly make floating soap and soap chips. There are prize soap recipes in this book.

In addition, our free book will open your eyes to the amazing number of ways in which Lewis' Lye will make your housework easier, how it will safeguard the health of your family and increase your profits.

When you buy Lye, be sure it's Lewis' Lye. Then you'll be certain of perfect results every time. Lewis' Lye is always exactly the same strength. It is the only that is given in separate tests in the market.

Seventy-five years of manufacturing experience stands behind it. It is pure and is packed in improved封口 cans, which are more convenient, which keep the lye in perfect condition.

TRIBUNE CHASES NEWS IN EUROPE WITH AIRPLANE

Reporter Is Equipped with His Own Machine.

BY LARRY RUE,
(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

[Copyright 1929 By The Chicago Tribune.]
PARIS, May 2.—I am the first newspaperman on the continent of Europe to be equipped with my own airplane. I took delivery this morning at the De Havilland factory in London of a Gypsy Moth coupe, which has "Chicago Tribune" inscribed on the fuselage. I will use it to fly myself and alone to Paris.

I resigned my commission in the United States air service in February, 1919, and since then until a week ago had not touched the controls of a flying machine. Yet I discovered that flying is like swimming, and that it is a knack that, once acquired, is never lost. After a five minute trip around the field, I took off and landed again without mishap. However, it took me two hours before I learned the knack of controlling the machine so as to land smoothly.

Finds Many Improvements.
There have been many improvements since 1919. Besides the amazing advance in the reliability and the efficiency of motor construction, air instruments replace the old system of "flying by feel." In fact, flyers today are used to use instruments constantly. The De Havilland crew says outright:

"The old system of flying by feel constitutes bad flying and often leads to serious accidents."

Probably the most important instrument is the speed indicator, which informs the pilot when flying speed is lost. Ten years ago this condition was only discernible by the lack of response of the controls. Years ago a good flyer was recognized by the singing wires in his gliding to landing fields. The wires testified that the ship were maintained. Now high speed slides are bad flying.

Finds Instruments Invaluable.

Another valuable instrument is the compass, which indicates the lateral position. This is invaluable for fog, making possible safe flying by means without visibility of any kind. Before this, too, was a matter of "feet," and frequently even good flyers came down through the clouds almost on their backs or in tailspins without realizing it before they spied the ground underneath.

I have already found these instruments valuable. When making an altitude test for my private pilot's license I climbed through more than two thousand feet of clouds and gashed through them again. Only by frequent corrections of the gliding and climbing angle by the use of the speed indicator and of lateral position by use of the level did I keep out of danger.

Flies by Compass.

Today when I left London visibility was poor and I flew by compass for more than half an hour before I was able to locate landmarks. Not before I reached Lympne airdrome, near Folkestone, where I cleared the British customs, was there bright sunshine. The English channel is always down by compass and I saw the map of France had blown away into the tail of the fuselage, where it was impossible to reach it, so for another hour and a half through rain and fog I flew by compass and was lucky to spy a regular flying field seventy miles north of Paris. I landed there and obtained my map in order to finish my flight to Le Bourget.

The international pilot's licenses are good for practically every country in Europe except Spain and Austria, where special permission is required. The De Havilland crew

OVERHEAD CUTS STREET REPAIRS, BUDGET REVEALS

Business Men's Counsel Ignored by City.

Street repairs to be financed out of vehicle tax fund budget for 1929 will be cut down materially as usual because of the expense charged to "overhead." This was shown by an affecting talk to street repairs and the partial maintenance of other departments a report of the Chicago Association of Commerce received from alderman was largely disregarded, it was disclosed.

Striven to insure an equitable and impartial distribution of the fund, one which every alderman is receiving its proportion, was recommended by the association. Not only did Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe disregard, but the recommended proportion of distribution in the various wards—45 per cent for major traffic streets and 35 per cent for local traffic streets—was not followed.

Reasons Less than Recommendation. Last year only 67 per cent of the vehicle tax was applied to street repairs. The 1928 schedule provides that 70 per cent of the fund be used for street repair. If this is taken out, leaving $2,568,745 for street repairs, only 53 per cent of the fund will be used for that purpose. Collections indicate that the estimated $4,800,000 revenue will be exceeded this year.

FLOYD BATEMAN IS ELECTED HEAD OF ROTARY CLUB

SET SECOND TRIAL ON MAY 20 OF JENNINGS, COAST GUARD SLAYER

Buffalo, N. Y., May 2.—(Special) The second trial of Glenn Jennings, charged with manslaughter in the shooting of Jacob D. Hansen, as the latter traveled homeward on the Lewiston Hill road last May, has been set for May 20 at Rochester, according to announcement made today.

Judge John H. Hazel, who presided at the first trial in Elmira, will be on the bench when the young coast guardman, flanked by United States Attorney Richard Temperton and his assistant defense counsel, faces the jury. Raymond A. Knowles, Niagara county prosecutor, will present the case of the people of the state of New York.

The first trial resulted in disagreement, the jury dividing, ten for conviction, two for acquittal.

The long trial of the Illinois Alcoa company conspiracy charges, which may continue for another ten days, is given as reason for setting the coast guard case for trial May 20 instead of May 14.

Report of Association of Commerce. The Association of Commerce report said, should include maintenance and repair of street, 7.5 per cent of the total amount for street repairs.

Repairs to paving base, curbs, gutters, and macadam streets are included in the total amount for street repairs. If this is taken out, leaving $2,568,745 for street repairs, only 53 per cent of the fund will be used for that purpose. Collections indicate that the estimated $4,800,000 revenue will be exceeded this year.

How Money Will Be Spent.

If the money has been distributed as follows, the budget shows:

1928.	1929.
Amount.	Amount.
Local, city collector.	420,495.6
Local, city expenses.	200,000
Interest and dividends.	55,000

Total.	1,241,840
Local taxes and fees.	290,000
Road repair.	2,160,000
Total.	3,450,000

The total collection this year is expected to run as high as 6 per cent. The budget of administration, which, includes street repair.

TRIAL IN SICILY REVEALS GRIP OF MAFIA IN CHICAGO

161 Terrorists Sentenced to Prison.

BY DAVID DARAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Copyright: 1929 by The Chicago Tribune.)
ROME, May 2.—The existence of healthy tentacles of a Sicilian Mafia organization in Chicago and other American cities was definitely established by the seizure of letters in the house of Ortol Eava, leader of a band of 161 bandits, who have just been sentenced to prison sentences up to a maximum of twenty-five years.

These letters showing the American branches of the Mafia were the principal evidence against the bandits in their trial at Termini Immerse, Sicily, which required ten months to complete.

According to the complete facts, now coming to light as the aftermath of the trial, Ortol Eava was the ring-leader of the Mafia. The existence of his vast organization was revealed to Prefect Morla as the result of a quarrel over spoils between five of his henchmen, one of whom turned traitor and denounced Ortol Eava.

Find Letters to U. S.

Subsequent seizures in Ortol Eava's house in Palermo revealed a huge mass of correspondence regarding Mafia activities and the disposal of spoils with representatives in a dozen towns throughout Italy, Southern France, and the United States.

The trial revealed that the criminal Mafia had a sort of court of justice of its own, of which Ortol Eava was president. Disputes between the brigands were settled by this court and men were condemned to death. The court had a complete organization, with prosecutors, counselors, and a committee which executed the sentences. Paola Tumpararo, who denounced Ortol Eava, was condemned to death and stabbed through a decision of this court.

Especially elaborate was the system worked out by Ortol Eava for disposing of stolen cattle. These would be moved from province to province and turned over to various agents to escape detection, frequently stolen cattle were butchered and shipped to other countries or to the Italian mainland as exports.

Ruled Gang 15 Years.

Ortol Eava appears to have ruled the gang for fifteen years with an iron hand and master intelligence. Sometimes he would revise the tributes of victims which he considered too high. One case is recorded where one of his henchmen levied a tribute of $2,000 on a certain priest named Versaci. Ortol Eava reduced the amount to $200.

Such was the mass of evidence examined that dormitories were established in the Termini Immerse court house so the lawyers and court could sleep in the building. In returning the verdict the jury had to answer 7,000 questions. The stiff verdict is held with satisfaction throughout Italy.

SEEK TWO BANDS OF KIDNAPERS FOR ABDUCTING GIRLS

Ex-Sweetheart Leads Gang to Seize One.

Police last night were attempting to unravel the mystery of the kidnapping of one girl from her home and to catch two young bandits who forced another to accompany them on a robbery tour.

A telephone call which detectives intercepted allayed the fears that Miss Rosalie Rizzo, 21 years old, 2824 Washington boulevard, the girl who was abducted from her home, had met with injury or death at the hands of her abductors, who were led by an estranged sweetheart.

John M. Goldsberry, as federal attorney for the northern district of Illinois, said that Mrs. Charles M. Saltzman of Iowa and William D. L. Starbuck of Connecticut to be members of the radio commission.

revolves still when he sought to protect Rosalie, and Rooney succeeded in forcing the girl to accompany him, Mrs. Ferris related.

Take Girl on Robbery.
Miss Dolores Bannon, 22 years old, a nurse, 308 Washington street, Evanston, was the victim of the bandits who made their abductions. The two bandits sprang into the automobile of H. P. Smith Paper company, in which Miss Bannon was seated at Barry avenue and Sheridan road. Despite her protests the bandits forced her to accompany them on a tour of the west side, where they held up and robbed a man and a woman and attempted several other robberies. They released Miss Bannon who drove to the Sherman home in Evanston and reported to the police.

KANSAS MARTYR IS JOHN BROWN; LIBERALS NEXT?

Writer Finds History Is Repeating Itself.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Ottawa, Kans., May 2.—[Special—John Brown of Osawatomie is a beloved martyr in Kansas. Liberals in the state speak of him as typifying the present movement to modify the Topeka act.]

They draw a parallel between the fugitive slave act of the fifties and Topeka's one-half of one per cent law and the Jones 5 and 10. When the Topeka wet and dry statesmen of the Kansas dry hierarchy claim against "nullification," the liberals retort: "Remember Osawatomie Brown."

For some of the corn fed saints of the day attacked Brown as a child of Satan and the "nullifier" of what they called a great moral law, the fugitive slave act—and now Brown has a monument in his home town and a park named after him.

W-G-N TO FLASH FLYING WEATHER REPORTS HOURLY

Tribune Station Launches New Aid to Pilots.

An hourly flying weather report for aviators was initiated last night by W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE on the Drake hotel. Each time from 8 a.m. to midnight, when the radio station goes off the air, the latest edition of the weather at the Municipal flying field here will be put on the air.

In order to be of value to flyers, weather information must be up to the minute. For this reason the printing of the daily flying weather forecast by zones has been discontinued by THE TRIBUNE and the more timely system inaugurated. Each hour the station announcer will give the height of the "ceiling," or the distance of the clouds above the ground, the range of visibility, the wind direction and velocity, and the ordinary weather conditions, such as rain, snow, fair, etc.

U. S. Supplies Data.

The information is compiled by the government weather bureau branch station at the Cleve airport.

This latest service of W-G-N is aimed to benefit the flyer bound for Chicago from distant points, as well as the aviator here. Weather is an all important factor to the flyer. Be it told on the lesson of the local weather station by long distance telephone or by telegraph the condition of the weather at the various points along his route. Because of the inadequate development of the system of weather reports the flying weather information is not easily available.

Through the radio reports of existing weather airports throughout the country will be able to tune in on W-G-N and receive hourly report of conditions here. From such information the flyer can decide whether to attempt the flight.

Example Shown Yesterday.
An example of the value of periodical weather reports is contained in the condition which prevailed yesterday at Cleveland, Ohio. Here the ceiling was high enough for flying, the visibility adequate, and the weather conditions generally fair during the middle of the day. At Cleveland, low clouds, and a blizzard made flying impossible. Learning of the storm over Ohio, airmen did not fly from here to Cleveland. The W-G-N hourly weather reports are provided to aid in such an emergency.

AVIATION NOTES

Air-mail passenger service linking the north shore with Detroit, Cleveland, and eastern points will be inaugurated Monday by the Stout Air Line and the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee electric railroad, it was announced yesterday. The rail trip from Milwaukee to Detroit under the new schedule will be five and a half hours and from Milwaukee to New York twenty and one-half hours. The schedule calls for a train to leave Milwaukee at noon standard time, arriving at Chicago at 2:11 and connecting with a plane leaving the municipal airport at 3 p.m. and arriving at Detroit at 6:30 eastern standard time. Rail connection will be made there for Cleveland and New York.

After a thousand mile airplane race with death, Mrs. Peter Kostomeloff of Sitka, Alaska, was given a fair chance for recovery as she lay critically ill from septicemia in a Seattle hospital last night, according to an Associated Press dispatch from the latter city. The Sitka-Seattle flight was made by Pilot Angel Eximino and Navigator Robert E. Ellis. It was after it was learned that only the care of a specialist could save Mrs. Kostomeloff. The patient arrived "in excellent condition, far better than if she had made the trip by other means," the attending physician stated.

Fordyce Kendall, a musician, and E. C. Nelson, an aviator, both living at 5012 Winthrop avenue, yesterday were discharged by Judge Edgar A. Jonas when they were arraigned in Peony court on charges of stealing an airplane. The charges were made by Johannes Wendt, owner of a machine shop at 3220 Armitage avenue.

A lively competition between the Pan-American airways and the New York-Buenos Aires lines to be the first to inaugurate transoceanic service from the United States along the west coast to South America as far south as the Argentine is to reach a climax within the next few weeks, according to reports in Washington yesterday. The prize of the competition will probably be air-mail contracts serving the South American states and connecting them with the United States.

U. S. Supplies Data.

The Pan-American airways have just completed a round trip survey from the Canal Zone to Port Au Spain, Trinidad, and equipment for operation of this section of the Pan-American line, which will be pushed eventually as far south as Buenos Aires, is now at the Canal Zone, according to information given out yesterday. Inauguration of the new service has been held up this far on account of the radio equipment.

Plots of Pan-American airways have been made by the government weather bureau branch station at the Cleve airport.

SIAMESE TWIN GIRLS BORN TO ILLINOIS PAIR

Mattoon, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—Eight pound "Siamese" twin girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lens of Ash Grove, twelve miles southwest of Mattoon, Tuesday morning, it was learned today.

The strange babies are at Methodist Memorial hospital in this city, and physicians report they are "doing nicely." They were removed to the infirmary late Tuesday evening, about twelve hours after birth. Mrs. Lens, the mother, remains at her home.

This pair of twins are believed by physicians to be the only ones of their kind ever to survive birth. In medical terms, the twins are of the Iachiqua type. That is, they are joined at the base of the torso. In the language of the layman, the head of one is at one end of the long body and that of the other directly opposite. In the case of each the head is well shaped, and so are the arms and hands. One child is a bit stronger than the twin and has slightly better legs and feet. The features are almost identical.

Each of the twins has separate vital organs, with the exception of those in the immediate vicinity of the union.

DEATH PENALTY LAW PASSED BY MICHIGAN HOUSE

Lansing, Mich., May 2.—[U. P.]—The Lennon-Wood capital punishment bill, providing for the electrocution of all persons convicted of first degree murder, passed the house today by a vote of 61 to 34.

Michigan law now does not provide for capital punishment. The bill passed the senate three weeks ago with a referendum clause providing for its submission to voters in November, 1930, but the house eliminated the referendum clause, necessitating its repassage by the senate.

Molded Crab Salad
5 teaspoons granulated gelatine; 1/2 cup chicken stock; 1 tablet green vinegar; 1/2 cup canned pineapple; 1 cup Three Diamonds crabmeat.
Boil gelatine in chicken stock for five minutes, dissolve over hot water and add vinegar. Add slowly to mayonnaise dressing, beaten smooth. Mix fruit and crabmeat and add to first mixture. Pack in ground nut shells and chill. Remove from shells and arrange in nests of lettuce leaves. Grapefruit juice may be used in place of chicken stock.

This crabmeat of rare delicate FLAVOR is also a nourishing food

ONLY the coldest of deep-sea waters can produce this matchless taste... Three Diamonds Brand Fancy Crabmeat. It comes in large, whole, meaty pieces firm and tender... with the nourishing flavor of a dinner course. You can serve it simply, in salads and sandwiches, or with it prepared dishes that Ciro's in Paris would be proud to call their own.

TRIPLE POWER

from his Advertising Dollar

STUDEBAKER has long since proved the power of its engines, by establishing 126 official records. Now it has found a way to multiply the pull of its advertising dollar by three . . . reaching father, mother and the younger generation.

Studebaker Corporation asked the heads of 7,689 families . . . in all parts of the country . . . whether any other member of the family influenced the purchase of the motor car.

Dad always poses and is generally accepted as the autocrat of the family garage. But in spite of that, he said in 46.7% of the replies . . . nearly half . . . "other members of the family influence the purchase."

A family vote was also taken on this question:

"What magazine is most generally read and liked by all members of your family?" Again, The American Magazine proved to be the all-family favorite. It was first choice by nearly 4 to 1 over the next magazine . . . and voted indispensable by 48.4% of the families, almost as many as for all other magazines combined.

These results give Studebaker . . . and every other national advertiser . . . a new formula for increasing advertising effectiveness, while reducing waste. Since family influence is the most important factor in buying today, the most economical and effective medium for advertising is the proven family favorite . . . The American Magazine.

Nine other prominent national advertisers have conducted similar investigations throughout the country, and with the same impressive results.

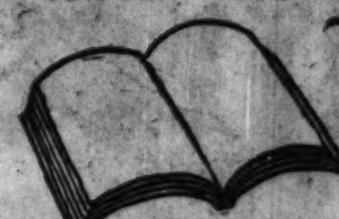

We shall be glad to give you the facts and figures . . . not only on any one of these investigations, but on a number of others by national advertisers, advertising agencies, universities and research organizations . . . every one of which also arrives at the same results. Write or telephone.

ITALIANS SMASH COLONIAL REBELS ON WIDE FRONT

Boatmen Tribesmen Flee Into Desert.

BY DAVID DARAH.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
(Copyright 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.)
ROME. May 2.—Ten days of severe and typical colonial military operations have been carried out in three phases over a nearly 500 mile front in the hinterland of Tripoli. They had been successfully terminated with heavy losses to the rebel desert tribesmen, according to the nearly complete details given out today by the Italian government. The operations were directed by Gen. de Ruy under secretary for the colonies. Exact losses were not published. One report says that the rebels had been pushed back so that they can no longer a menace to the harvest of the crop, the destruction of which was their objective.

Posts 62 Miles Apart.

While the Italian operations last year penetrated over 100 miles south into the desert that line was obviously not held. Instead Italy's outpost, with sometimes about 82 miles between them, was roughly in the line between the town of Ghadames on the Tunisian border northeast to the town of Misra, from there southeast to Susef, from there south to Sella, and from there directly east to the Giallo oasis.

It was easy for the rebels to penetrate this line which they did under the leaders Mohammed ben Hassan, Ahmed Seffen Nassar, and Mohamed Feheni. Apparently the rebel plan, as revealed by Italian aviation observers, was to break through in three distinct and separate places. They struck swiftly.

Advance on Camels.

The first group on camels advanced along what is called the Oudi Zemzem, a small stream. They drove back the Italian outpost of 50 men but the Italians later by a clever ruse of decoy snipers surprised them in their temporary fighting position at a place called Ouf El Metchia, where on April 11 there was a battle. The rebels were as well armed men and after severe fighting in which 60 of them were killed the remainder fled into the desert carrying their wounded and their supplies.

Five days later Col. Galliani encountered a second group of 350 rebels farther east on the Zemzem and defeated them. The report says that the rebel loss was severe. Among the killed was the rebel leader Mohammed Feheni, an implacable enemy of the Italians.

Armen Pursue Rebels Into Desert.
In the meanwhile a third group of rebels about 250 strong on the extreme right succeeded in penetrating the 100 miles to the town of Bi Zid, near the town of Sirta, and reached the sea coast. Italian troops from all ports were assembled under Col. Tracchia and after two stiff engagements at Birzit on the coast, and Umerne, further inland, the rebels, pursued by aviators, broke for the desert.

BRITAIN, EGYPT PLAN TO RECLAIM NILE MARSH LANDS

By David Darrah.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON. May 2.—After several years of negotiations the British government has arrived at an agreement with the Egyptian government for a great hydraulic power and control scheme which means the complete control of the waters of the River Nile.

The project, which will take ten years to complete, involves the control of the Nile from the sea to its source and its chief tributaries, the White and Blue Niles. The White Nile flows out of Lake Albert, which it is proposed to dam in a narrow mountain canon where the river debouches, thus increasing the natural storage, and a similar scheme is planned for the Blue Nile at Lake Thana.

The plan will involve a navigation canal through more than 100 miles of marshes, in which the Nile now loses itself spreading over thousands of square miles of territory. Where the water dissipates by evaporation in the tropical heat, and 1,000,000 acres will be reclaimed for agriculture.

T. R. JR., BROTHER HAILED IN TIBET AS U. S. "PRINCES"

Roosevelts Are Given Royal Reception.

BY JOHN POWELL.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
SHANGHAI. May 2.—The North China Daily News, a British newspaper printed here, today published a report from its correspondent in Szechuan province stating that Col. Theodore Roosevelt and his brother, Kermit, and C. S. Cutting had arrived at Tatsienlu in western Szechuan on March 9. They were greeted by the natives and their ruler, the dalai lama, as members of the "royal house of the republic of America."

The report states that Col. Roosevelt tried to inform the Tibetans that America was a republic where the president was chosen by the people. A report recites that the Dalai Lama was changed yesterday, but they refused to believe it.

Offered Human Skulls.

The natives performed in from the surrounding countryside in order to view the "two Americans" and persons who strangely walked about the streets unattended and dickered with the shopkeepers for curious paraphernalia. Among the curios sought were human skulls which were offered as tsumba bowls and human thigh bones which had been converted into human trumpets.

The report recounts that the visitors had difficulty experiencing dickerings for Tibetan rugs, dragon prawn bells, and so forth, which were offered at exorbitant prices due to the reputed wealth of the American "royalists."

Seeks Giant Panda.

After several days at Tatsienlu the Roosevelt party left for the district around Muping, 46 miles northeast of Tatsienlu, where they are trying to obtain specimens of the giant panda, a rare grayish and black bearlike creature, which feeds on vegetable matter, but great difficulties are being experienced since the Chinese guides claimed that the animal was now hideously scarce.

However, the Tibetans also claimed that there were several herds in the district around Kanzie, about 165 miles northwest of Tatsienlu. It is also reported that the dalai lama may present two excellent specimens to the party for the Chicago Field museum, which grants the party full permission to travel through lower Tibet. The party is generally welcomed, and one magistrate gave them a banquet consisting of Chinese dishes, American, British, and French missionaries and officials, as well as the leading Chinese and Tibetans, were invited, and all dined in the cordiality.

Jules Arnold. American commercial attaché at Peking has left for Yenan province in order to join the Roosevelt party, which is finally expected to return to civilization via the Yangtze River to Shanghai.

The new discovery, ACIDINE, banishes swiftly, surely and safely, persistent indigestion, gas, sour stomach and colds. Our great laboratories worked for years on this problem before we found the formula that promises to bring about such success in the treatment of these troubles.

ACIDINE.
1. Relieves acid stomach and its results—indigestion, colds and sick headache.
2. Digests starchy foods which many people are unable to do.
3. Softens tough foods, putting them in such condition so as to digest easily.
4. Absorbs and eliminates gas.
5. Makes stomach and breath sweet and clean. If there's a better way you want to try it, ACIDINE is offered to you by your physician or druggist. If you are not convinced of its superiority and effectiveness, just tell him and the trial will not cost you one penny, or write Health Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa.

MEXICO'S REVOLT HAS ITS BENEFITS, SAYS PORTES GIL

MEXICO CITY. May 2.—(U. P.)—In spite of the bloodshed and heavy financial cost of the dying Mexican revolution, President Alfonso Portes Gil believes the revolt will be beneficial to the country by consolidating it more strongly, he declared in an interview here today.

Consenting to discuss the possible effects of the revolution as news from the battle front told of the gradual breaking up of the revolt, the president said he believed the failure of Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar had lessened the possibility of other civil wars in the future.

The whereabouts of Gen. Escobar, rebel commander in chief, were not known today, but a dispatch from the El Paso, Tex., consulate said it was understood he had left Agua Prieta with his staff, heading towards the mountains and apparently hoping to cross into the United States.

DAMP LOCKER ROOMS WORRY OUR GOLF CLUBS

U.S. Attorney Joins in Discussion.

The nineteen holes on the Chicago district's golf courses have fallen under the shadow of the dry law. Pending rigid enforcement with the possibility of padlocking clubhouses and courses for a year, some golf club officials are issuing orders that no ginger ale, fizz water or cracked ice be served in the locker rooms or clubhouses.

None of the club officials will discuss the question, yet it is known that a meeting of club presidents was held a short time ago. They invited United States District Attorney George R. Quisenberry, a member of the Calumet club, to attend the meeting and decide what constitutes violations of the dry laws as applied to golf clubs.

Officials Refuse to Talk.

The club officials present at the meeting agreed to talk with their lawyers except to their boards of governors. Raymond J. Daly, president of the Chicago District Golf association, who was reported to have attended the meeting, declined to talk about it, even refusing to admit such a meeting had been held.

Golf clubs have been generally immune from raids by prohibition enforcement officers, presumably because they are private institutions such like banks. There is an indication now that the initiative in the present movement to dry up the locker rooms came from the dry enforcement officers. Nor will any club official give a hint they have received warning.

By-Laws Prohibit It.

Officially every club officer takes the stand, "Our club obeys the law. There is no liquor drunk in our clubhouse." One president even went so far as to prove the impossibility of ever getting at his club by citing the fact the by-laws contain a paragraph which prohibits bringing intoxicating liquors to the club grounds.

Officially, however, they talk a bit differently. One president said, "Our club is 100 per cent dry, the membership 99 per cent wet." Some clubs have signs warning against the possession and use of liquor posted in the locker rooms, some of them have signs posted in every locker. Yet another president said, "We've been thinking primarily in terms of evasion of the law."

Chief Judge Lindley's Ruling.

Relating to my prosecution of golf clubs, Mr. Johnson declined to be interviewed but referred all questions to his recent written opinion of District Judge Walter C. Lindley on the padding of the Chez Pierre. The opinion is applied specifically to a "restaurant where patrons consumed liquor bought with them, and which supplied patrons with ginger ale and mace and ice therefore, and thereby tacitly consented to violations of the national prohibition act . . ."

At the U. S. district attorney's office was given as an opinion that a public restaurant is not a private club as operated for profit insofar as conduct in violating the law is concerned. But it was pointed out that a club has not the immunity of a private home for search and seizure, except as an individual may make his home in a club room.

The exhibition swim of Walter Laufer of the Lake Shore A. C. at Medinah last night, May 2, featured the swimming of the remaining pool of the Medinah A. C. last night. Laufer, who is considered one of the best swimmers in the country, swam the 100 yards in 54.5 seconds, and the 200 yards without competition, but he swam the 100 yards in 54.5 seconds faster. A gathering of about 300 attended the opening of the pool.

REIGH COUNT IN ENGLAND.

HERE is a smart turfman whose name is not essential, who thinks Reigh Count, American champion 3 years old, will not win the Derby. He has a reason, and has backed his opinion. This chap belongs to the bookmaking fraternity. Naturally, as a penciler, he lays against 'em but he also has a reputation for "holding 'em out" and letting them run for his book when he likes them. Sentiment hardly enters into his makeup.

When Reigh Count made his first two starts on the other side, this bookmaker took all that was offered and, of course, has a swell balance already on the black side of the ledger. Now for his reasoning. Here is the substance of it.

"Epind from France in 1924, and Papyrus from England in 1925, were champions when they came to this country. Neither won races here. Papyrus, in particular, tried perhaps an impossible program. There seems hardly any doubt he was beaten by horses not actually as good as he. He was the invader and had to become accustomed to our hard tracks and our climate."

"In England, the air is much heavier than here. That affects horses coming here less than it affects horses going there. Yet, Papyrus could not beat Zev. Reigh Count has been beaten twice by mediocre studs. That does not mean so much because he is racing into form and learning his work. But he will not run that kind of field, makes him. He will meet some of the best horses in the world. Learning to race on turf with the handicap of heavier air cannot be accomplished in one season. I will lay against him every time he starts. Except financially, I hope I am wrong but that's my judgment."

Well, The Wake also hopes he's wrong.

Modern Requisite.

He doesn't ask, "Is the splash low?" Of the car he wants to buy: "The only thing that worries him—Will it beat the other guy?"

In a heavy rain when the lights turn green, And the car in first'll sing; A getaway is what he craves, Though it doesn't mean a thing.

I want this more than long feet Does That catch and charm the eye; Will my car be first on the yellow light— Will it beat the other guy?" Dan Frazer.

Old Superstitions.

Grandmother used to say that if your nose itched you would be kissed. Grace Iris.

Variations.

Wake: Helper H. D. W. says after the country wife had the candle molds filled with melted tallow she hung them outdoors to harden. He must have lived in a cold climate. Down in Egypt (Illinois) where I lived, we placed them in a wash tub filled with cold water to harden them.

Dumbbell Poems.

Harver: You're a funny guy! Help! Help! Help! your eternal cry. You get just codes every day And then throw most of it away. Elmer.

Wise Cracking.

The Lady: Count yourself again, Big Boy, you aren't so many. Arnold G.

Pa Bradley's Wager.

Dear Wake: Aurora's "near-opening" Wednesday caused me to recall an incident of long ago at the Marion Park. In a selling affair of one and eighteen miles with Mrs. Scarlet Lily, Octave, The Devil, Lakeview, Palace, Plantain, Monk Wayman, Amy Wade, and possibly a couple more. I saw "Vivian" Bradley of Honey Boy and Robert Waddell fame, who OWNED and trained Plantain, walk up to George Rose's hook and bet $20 on Amy Wade to win, $20 on Scarlet Lily to show and $20 on Octave to show. This rather discouraged me as I had already wagered on Plantain at 20 to 1. The result was Plantain first, Monk Wayman second, The Devil third.

SOX AND TIGERS TAKE AFTERNOON OFF TO THAW OUT

Series Final Today; Yanks Here Tomorrow.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox were not at home again yesterday. The schedule called for them to doll up and entertain the Detroit Tigers but cold weather and a flurry of snow induced the home officials to cancel the program for the second successive day.

The Tigers are still here, however, and with a break in the weather may be able to get in the third and the series this afternoon, with

TAD DORGAN. TAD DORGAN, afternoon, with George Uhle laboring for them and either Tommy Thomas or Red Faber for the Sox.

Carried on Facing Death.

Realizing this thoroughly, he is reigned from the crowd at the press flights and ball games and the places around town and limns himself in his home, just as he was before his son, Tad, carried him into his study to draw his pictures for the sport page. His humor was never brighter in his gallivantin' days, all in all, without any idea that he was being heroic. Tad carried on more gamely for those last eight years than any of the brute frame prize fighters that he eulogized now and then in his semi-fictional pictures.

It cannot be truthfully said the Cubes were rarin' and sartin' to play.

The epidemic of ninth inning St. Vitus dance complicated with blind staggers which has beset the outfit, has slowed the eagerness to play more than you can imagine.

And, besides, each day of idleness means another day of recuperation for the eye catching staff. Gabby Hartnett, Miss Gonneau, Johnnie Saults, Tommie Agee and Earl Moore all donned uniforms before the day's cancellation but with the exception of Grace, who has only seven fingernails to go with his two thumbs, not a one could have caught.

Adopt a Watchful Waiting.

Angley, last of the start to join the casualty list, has a right thumb like unto an overripe papaya.

Speaking of castings, it may be set down that the condition of Gabby Hartnett continues day to day.

Boneeeter Reese's alleged mifacle straightened out one kin but others forthwith set in and are continuing with such persistence that fear grows in some quarters that the great backstop may be out for the season, if not for the rest of his life.

Tad fought so gamely against misfortune early and late and selflessly.

If Tad had broodish premonitions a few days ago and seemed to have recovered but today he lay down to rest and just didn't get up. The bum tickler, as he called it, quit going at last, after 52 years.

Tad fought so gamely against misfortune early and late and selflessly that he was born to hit nature that it makes a man ill in case to use fine language. Tad or into heroism seems over him now that he is gone. It seems like taking advantage of him to go to his left shoulder and discouragement hanging over the man.

Gabby and all the rest of the organization are hoping his is a rapid recovery, of course, but nothing has been done to give any inkling as to when the disasters he had to overcome.

Recalls First Meeting.

I met him at the steam roller convention of the Republican party in Chicago in 1912. I was defiling with white blistols board with some of the most grievous smears ever committed to paper in a formal copy of boom or come artist.

He was a tall, gawky fellow with a conspicuous nose, hanging around a section of the press section and every now and then he would up with the collar button warts on the nose without which no caricature of Mr. Root was legal in those days. The action of the sketch was the Tad. So this was Tad, and he was a left hander and not only that but he was a left hander because the first two fingers and half the palm of his right hand were missing. I established relations with Mr. Dorgan at once and before the convention was over I contrived to show him some of the sketches I had drawn.

"Are these any good?" I asked, glancing at the pad and saw that he was drawing a picture of old Elihu Root with the unmistakable bartenders' bangs down over the forehead, the moth-eaten moustache, and the collar button warts on the nose without which no caricature of Mr. Root was legal in those days.

"What else can you do?" Mr. Dorgan was not exactly carried away, it seemed.

"Well," I said, "I am pretty good writing."

Death Claims Tad Dorgan, Phrase Maker

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 2.—Tad Dorgan, the great American phrase maker gave up and died today.

As a sport page cartoonist of a newspaper service he originated or popularized more slang expressions than any other man of his time, not excepting the late Theodore Roosevelt.

Ever since the time of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight, eight years ago, he had a hunched hunched existence in the suburbs of Long Island, broken only by rare, cautious trips to New York, because he was in momentary danger of dying from heart failure.

There was some definite mechanical weakness in his heart and in order that he might realize just how careful he must be to avoid his trouble, he knew just how serious the trouble was. He had to be made to understand that the slightest exertion or over exertion might strain him in his heart and kill him.

He had to be made to understand that the slightest exertion or over exertion might strain him in his heart and kill him.

It cannot be truthfully said the Cubes were rarin' and sartin' to play.

The epidemic of ninth inning St. Vitus dance complicated with blind staggers which has beset the outfit, has slowed the eagerness to play more than you can imagine.

The greatest plunge since future book betting on the Kentucky Derby came into vogue, has battered the odds against Ervast, the sensational Call tortilla colt down from 60 to 1 to 12 to 4 in the last three days.

Baron Long, the San Diego owner of the colt which won eight straight races at Tia Juana during the winter and all his friends wagered on Ervast with the future bookmakers at 10 odds. Then the colt became a wild tip only in Chicago but in a New York, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, and a dozen other cities.

Leaders Other Candidates.
For the last few days, since it became known definitely that Ervast was not for California, to Churchill Downs to fill his Derby assignment, there has been little backing for any other candidate in the 55th renewal of the $50,000 2 year old fixture on May 15.

Ervast is scheduled to reach Churchill Downs late Saturday afternoon and Baron Long, his owner, will arrive in Chicago on Saturday morning. He will spend a few days here and then proceed to Louisville to await Ervast's Derby performance.

May Start in Mile Test.

Friends of Long in Chicago have received word that Ervast will likely start in a mile race at Churchill Downs on the Tuesday before the Derby. He may hook up with Blue Larkspur, Clyde Van Dusen, and Karl Eitel in that race. If he beats them following the extraordinary plunge of him in the future books he doubt will go to the post at the Derby favorite.

Ervast, a son of the imported stallion Paicin, is the first great horse to come out of California in nearly a score of years.

FOUR N. U. TEAMS LEAVE TODAY FOR BIG TEN BATTLES

Eleven Purple Athletes in Ohio Relays.

Four Northwestern athletic teams leave today for various parts of the conference, where they engage in weekend competition. The track and field teams leave for Columbus, where the former participates in the Ohio relay tomorrow and the golf teams meet Ohio State in a dual match.

Coach Paul Stewart's baseball team journeys to Iowa City for the second and final game of the series with the Hawkeyes, the latter having won the first game in a ten inning battle at Des Moines last Saturday. Northwestern's defeat of Purdue Wednesday has strengthened the Wildcats' morale and they hope to even up matters with Coach Vogel's nine.

Eleven in Ohio Relays.

Eleven Purple track men will compete in the relays. They include Warne and Engle, pole vaulters; Portmoss, long jump; Anderson, hammer; Brown, javelin; Lemming, low hurdles; Wolf, triple跳, and Walter, Gorby, Farrell, and Wolf, medley relay. The men's team leaves tonight for Minneapolis, where it takes on the Goosier rocket wielders in a dual encounter tomorrow. Members of the squad making the trip are Riel, Bergner, Perrin, Rooney, Martin, and Curtis.

Fox Wins Big 10 Medal.

V. Bert Fox, football and track athlete at Northwestern university, has been awarded the conference medal for proficiency in athletics and scholarship. It was announced just night by Prof. O. C. Long, chairman of the faculty committee on athletics. Fox, a son of Prof. Philip Fox, head of the astronomy department at the university, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholarship fraternity. He has won letters both in football and track during his three years of competition. He was quarterback in the grid team and runs the quarter mile and relay on the track team.

MISS TURPIE BAGS 88 IN HER DEBUT OVER ST. ANDREWS

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 2.—(UPI)—Marion Turpie, New Orleans girl whose golfing pilgrimage to this town of her birth greatly interests St. Andrews, today played her first full round over the championship links.

"It thrilled me," she said, "for I went around in 88, which I am told is very good for a girl golfer."

Miss Turpie laughingly pointed out that she is Scotch only by two months.

"I was born at St. Andrews in 1907, but when I was 2 months old my parents moved to America," she explained.

BANKS POUR OUT MORE FUNDS FOR STOCK MARKET*Brokers' Loans Rise 40 Million.

By O. A. MATHER.

The banks of the country poured additional funds into the stock market for the use of speculators this week, while the big corporations took money out. The influx of bank funds was influenced by the 10 to 16 per cent call loan rates, while the corporations withdrawals resulted from May 1 interest and dividend payments.

Thus, the weekly report on brokers' loans issued by the federal reserve board yesterday showed an increase of $63,000,000, making the second consecutive increase. Last week there was an increase of $67,000,000. The total of loans to brokers and dealers by the New York federal reserve member banks stands at $5,532,000,000, which is only $261,000,000 under the figure established on March 21. The current total also marks a gain of $1,250,000 over a year ago.

This week's increase was hailed with some satisfaction by speculators on the score that it wasn't larger.

There had been predictions that it would run as high as $100,000,000. It also was taken to mean that the banks are under less pressure from the federal reserve board to limit speculative loans.

Details of Report.

The details of the report show that the New York banks expanded their own loans by $5,000,000 and that interior banks furnished an additional $1,000,000. Corporations and other lenders reduced their loans by $40,000,000. The New York interior banks had $350,000,000 less than a year ago; interior banks are furnishing $10,000,000 more and other lenders are $1,510,000,000 above last year's mark. Several other factors also cheered speculators. The New York reserve bank made no change in its 5 per cent discount rate. The New York stock exchange issued its monthly report to its members. The total on April 30 was $6,774,330,955, making a decline of $29,257,013 from the total on March 31. But the current total is still $1,667,147,586 above a week ago.

The international gold movement at New York between April 25 and May 1 showed imports of $20,000 and no exports, while at the same time stocks of earmarked gold showed a net decline of $12,828,000. This gain is just reflected primarily from Germany's efforts to maintain exchange rates.

Chicago Loans Decrease.

Whether or not the reserve board has somewhat modified its policy on speculative loans, the fact remains that the banks increased their borrowings this week and the reserve banks also started to buy banker's acceptances again, thus affording more ample credit for the money market.

The weekly report of the reserve bank shows that loans increased $11,100,000 and acceptances decreased $20,000. Holdings of government securities showed little change. Deposits expanded $60,274,000 and note circulation moved up $11,078,000.

Gold and total reserves increased $1,449,000 and $12,346,000, respectively. The ratio of reserves to liabilities went to 21.3 per cent, compared with 74.3 per cent last week.

At Chicago loans declined $1,460,000, deposits decreased $3,825,000. Reserves remained $2,503,000. Reserves increased $2,365,000. The reserve ratio now stands at 79.2 per cent, compared with 79.7 per cent last week.

D. A. CRAWFORD MADE PRESIDENT OF PULLMAN CO.

David A. Crawford, executive vice president of the Pullman company, who was an instructor at the University of Wisconsin before he entered the business world, was yesterday elected president of the Pullman company at a meeting of the board of directors in New York. He fills the vacancy left by the death of Edward F. Carr last week.

Mr. Crawford was long associated with Mr. Carr, first as his secretary and later as his treasurer. He was born 40 years ago in St. Louis and completed his education at the University of Wisconsin in 1905. He remained at Madison as an instructor until 1907, when he became secretary to Mr. Carr, who was at that time president of the American Car and Foundry company.

While Mr. Carr was president of the Haskell & Barker Car company, from 1916 to 1922, Mr. Crawford was the company's treasurer and vice president. With its consolidation with the Pullman company in 1922 Mr. Carr was succeeded by Mr. Crawford, who became vice president and assistant.

In 1924 Mr. Crawford became president of the Pullman Car and Manufacturing corporation and last year he was elected executive vice president of the Pullman company.

He is president of the University Club and a member of a dozen other clubs in Chicago, New York, and Detroit.

Other business activities include that of vice president and treasurer of the Midland Fuel company, director of the Wisconsin Gas corporation of Detroit, the Harris Trust and Savings bank, and the Pullman Trust and Savings bank.

New Insull Generator Shows Trend to Larger Plants

BY SCRUTATOR.

A significant trend toward the manufacture of electrical energy in larger and still larger plants, and with still more tremendous turbo-generators, is shown in the construction of the new station of the State Line Generating company, just south of the Illinois line on Lake Michigan.

This concern will have but one function. It will not market or distribute its product. The electricity has already been sold under a fifty year contract to the utility companies which own all the stock: the Commonwealth Edison, Public Service of Northern Illinois, Northern Indiana Public Service, and Interstate Public Service.

The first generating unit, which has been set up and will be in operation by October, will have a capacity of 260,000 kilowatts, or more than 270,000 horsepower. From time to time, it is proposed, other similar units will be added as needed until the total capacity reaches 1,335,000 horsepower, more than a million kilowatts. The total investment will be something more than twenty-eight million dollars.

Large Plants Economical.

To the layman these figures may not mean much. The fact is that such a station, completed, will be able to generate almost as much electricity as can now be made in the entire Chicago-Northwest-Indiana district. At the end of the last year the Commonwealth Edison company had a total generating capacity in its five plants here of 1,155,000 kilowatts.

At present the largest single unit in use in this section is the one known as No. 6 at the Crawford avenue station of the Edison company. Its capacity is 100,000 kilowatts, less than half that of the new one in Indiana. The New York Edison company has one set up that is larger than Crawford avenue one, but far smaller than the State Line's.

Gradually, it has been discovered, can be made by the erection of such plants. As an example, the Crawford avenue plant last year used 1.4 pounds of coal to generate a kilowatt hour of electricity, as against an average for all the plants of 1.81 pounds. The general average for all utility plants in the country was 1.76 pounds a kilowatt hour. It is stated by the Commonwealth Edison company that its use of more than the average amount is explained by the fact that the Illinois coal handled by them has not quite the British thermal unit content that some others have and that their heat unit consumption is 19,700 to the kilowatt hour as against 19,900 to the United States average of about 21,000.

Favorably Located.

The State Line station was located with regard to the ease of obtaining water, coal supplies as well as availability of the distributor. It is perhaps not generally understood that from 550 to 700 tons of water to each ton of coal are needed. Lack of adequate water supply is fatal. The new plant will draw its supply from the lake. Such considerations as this, with the possibilities of handling coal cars, the improvement of transmission facilities, and the few men needed to run them, have caused utility men to turn to the bigger plants. They represent economy.

There has been much talk of the cost of power generation under the new plants that can be located close to markets; this cheapness is often delusive. What is saved in generation is lost in long distances. Besides, water power plant methods are near the peak of efficiency, and the thermal engineers are constantly finding better ones.

One Chicagoan, connected with the investment banking business and having no direct touch with utilities, has said that there are steam plants which are cheaper to run than the hydro type, if capital is given proper weight.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, May 2.—The manufacturing activities of the Victor Talking Machine company are to be taken over at an early date by the Audio-Vision Appliance company, which has been incorporated in New Jersey by the General Electric company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

The products of the new company in radio receiving sets, combination radio and electric talking machines, records, and appliances will be distributed through the recently organized Radio-Victor Corporation of America.

It is expected that the Victor Talking Machine company will be dissolved eventually, and it is anticipated that its outstanding preferred stock will be called about June 1, 1929. Edward E. Shumaker, president of the Victor company, has been elected president of the new company.

If understood the common stock of the new company will be wholly owned by General Electric and Westinghouse, and that the former will own 60 per cent and the latter 40 per cent of the controlling stock.

Board of Trade Securities
Bill Survives House FightBY CARL WARREN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 2.—The bill to exempt securities listed by the Chicago Board of Trade from the provisions of the Illinois blue sky law, on the same basis as those on the Chicago, New York, and Boston stock exchanges, was beaten a second attack today in the Illinois house of representatives.

Representative Sullivan described the amendment as "absolutely unconstitutional" and asserted that it would kill the bill.

Business Men Defended.

"This amendment is nothing less than an assault by politicians upon Chicago business," declared Representative Michael L. Igoe, who supported Sullivan's bill.

The measure moved up to third reading on the house calendar unchanged, after its foes, led by Representative Frank A. McCarthy of Elgin, had made a strong attempt to cripple it with amendments. The most important amendment was tabled by a vote of 57 to 37.

Under the present law, all securities, except those handled by the stock exchanges, must be examined and approved by the secretary of state before they are marketed. The house bill sponsored by Representative T. J. Sullivan of Springfield is sought by the board of trade to free from the necessity of state license the securities it proposes to deal in thus permitting it to extend its activities beyond grain trading and establish a new stock market in Chicago.

Attack Starts Quickly.

Overriding an unfavorable report of the banks and banking committee, the house three weeks ago placed the bill on its calendar. Sullivan called it up today on second reading. However, to extend its activities beyond grain trading and establish a new stock market in Chicago.

A companion measure presented by Mr. Sullivan to exempt the Chicago Curb from the blue sky law was also voted down on second reading. However, to extend its activities beyond grain trading and establish a new stock market in Chicago.

Mr. McCarthy, explaining that he spoke for the securities department, offered an amendment not only to keep the board of trade under the law but also to make it applicable to the stock exchanges.

Approval of all stocks by the department, he argued, would protect the buying public from fraudulent securities without interfering with the operation of the exchanges.

Representative Sullivan described the amendment as "absolutely unconstitutional" and asserted that it would kill the bill.

FARM and GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

When J. P. Porter goes out to trim the shrubs on the grounds around the state agricultural college in New York he divides the bushes into two classes. Some are pruned immediately after blooming, while others are left to be pruned in the fall or early spring.

These are the practical rules he follows from those followed in trimming fruit trees. In explaining his reasons for classifying shrubs for pruning, he says those which blossom early set their flower buds during the preceding year. If they are pruned during the following winter or early spring all blossom is destroyed. They should be pruned immediately after they bloom.

In this group he puts such Japanese quince, Japanese snowball. If these are not pruned until late summer young growth will develop before winter and such tender stems are frequently winter killed, he says.

In the second group Mr. Porter puts all shrubs which blossom from the middle of the summer on, and these he prunes either in the fall, winter or

Several Parties Planned for Clevelandites

BY THALIA

A flurry of entertainment has been planned for a group of prominent Cleveland people who are arriving here this evening for a "May Day house party" as they and their host, Jacob H. Bischof of the Ambassador East, term their gathering. The party includes Warren Buffet, his sisters and brothers; Mr. and Mrs. V. Corydon Taylor, and the Miss Margaret Walker of Muskegon, whose portrait by Frank O'Sherry has just been completed. Shortly after their arrival this evening Mr. Bischof plans to take his guests to the Lighthouse supper-dance at the Hotel Sherman. Tomorrow he will go out to Barrington for a drive at the Barrington Hills Country Club, golf in the afternoon, and dinner and dance party that Mr. and Mrs. Evan Evans are to give at their Barrington residence. "Midnight Samuels is taking them to luncheon and golf on Sunday, and that evening Ralph Evans is to give a dinner party for them at the Saddle and Cycle club."

This month's Ladies Home Journal carries an illustrated article by Corinne Cooper on "Mirrors for Charm." The pictures, in color, are of mirrors used in Chicago, for they are some of the more distinctive mirrors in some of the most famous houses in this city. A scene of a Louis XIV, trumeau above a Louis XVI, commode, is reproduced through the courtesy of Mrs. L. Newton Perry, and others show a Baroque Spanish mirror against old Italian damask, from the drawing room of Miss Conger; a Convex mirror, Regency, above settee, which belonged to "Mrs. R. R. McEvily"; the end of Mrs. Charles H. Shedd's bedchamber rose and silver gilding room, with the etched mirror walls, a dressing table of Miss Conger.

This evening's calendar is brightened by the annual Light House Volunteer ball to take place at the Hotel Sherman. It will be preceded by a number of dinner parties at the Four Seasons Tavern club and a large Dutch treat dinner in the bungalow atop the Sherman roof. Among those who have made reservations at the bungalow are Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartholomew, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Burdette, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Eddle.

Jeanette Alpin will head a corps of cigarette vendors, including Miss Dorothy Wegener, Miss Isabel Greenlee, Miss Jane Condon, Miss Mary Fortune, Miss Jean Purcell, Miss Kathleen Whitcomb, Miss Theodosia Smith, Miss Jean Logan, and Miss Louise Redover. Mrs. James M. Hopkins Jr., is in charge of reservations.

A group of alumnas of Barnard college are to give a luncheon at the Hotel Sherman for Mrs. Virginia C. Cleaves, director of the course who came to be the Alumnae of Seven Colleges dinner at the Palmer house last night. Mrs. Oscar Hayward was chairman of the Barnard committee.

The group of models for the Kentwood Social Service club's style show and bridge party this afternoon at the Sherman hotel will include Mrs. B. A. Converse, Mrs. George B. Cross, Mrs. William J. Killough, Mrs. William Townsend, Mrs. Henry A. Anson, Mrs. Kenneth MacLellan is in charge of the fashion show, and Mrs. Alice Miller of the bridge party.

There is to be a meeting of the board of directors of the American Opera Society at the Fortnightly to-morrow morning. Mrs. Benjamin Aldrich is returning from Washington, D. C., expressly to preside in the absence of Mrs. Walter Borden, the president of the society, but organization for the sale of subscriptions for the October season will go on through the month of October.

The Evanston Wells College club is to hold its next meeting at the residence of Mrs. Sidney Ball of Winnetka, next Tuesday.

Marjorie Langworthy, who has been living in New York City in recent months, has made an indefinite visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin A. Langworthy. Miss Langworthy also played in "Trevelyan" at Scarborough, N. Y.

Miss Anna Louise Curtis and Miss Miss Legion are co-chairmen of the dance committee for the military and opera to be given by the members of the Republic next Monday.

The young couple plan to make their home in Evanston.

ROADS CUT RATES ON EXPORT GRAIN TO AID FARMERS

Eastern Lines Act; See National Emergency.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—[Special]—While Congress marked time on farm relief, eastern rail executives met here today and took a practical step to cut grain export rates as an aid in an "emergency of national proportions" resulting from the heavy carryover of wheat and the world prospect of bumper crops soon to be on the market.

Although President Hoover's initiative to discuss a plan of action was known that the White House approved and that the administration has been considering the possibilities of large shipments to China as one avenue of outlet.

While Mr. Hoover was secretary of commerce he held a conference with the rail executives, at which it was reported that he had offered to help them expedite their wartime claims against the government if they would assist the agricultural problem. The voluntary step of the roads today is the first sign of their half of the reported bargain.

Chicago Sales Affected.

The reductions will take effect about May 10. If the grain rates through time, rates on grain "at and east" of lower Lake Erie ports to the North Atlantic seaboard will be cut two cents a bushel—from approximately 15 cents a hundred pounds to 12½ cents.

All rail reshipping rates from Chicago to New York for exports are to be reduced from 22½ cents to 17 cents. The all rail rate from St. Louis to New York is to come down from 36 cents to 20 cents.

Robert N. Collier, chairman of the Traffic Executive association, announced that the meeting was to consider "the emergency caused by the great accumulation of grain on farms and in elevators in the west."

"This grain," said his statement, "together with the abnormally large crop maturing, which will soon be ready for the market, must meet the competition of the unusually large carry over and production in foreign countries, with consequent lowering of the price level in the principal markets of the world."

A National Emergency.

"The roads recognize that an emergency of national proportions exists, necessitating every possible aid to the immediate removal of the surplus out of the country."

The proposed reductions were set forth with the reminder that the roads consent to the removal of emergency rates, but not permanent ones.

The roads will ask the Interstate Commerce commission for the authority to put the emergency rates into effect on five days' notice, with the understanding that all the new tariffs are to expire Sept. 30.

6 INJURED, MANY THROWN OUT OF BEDS BY BOMB

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 2.—[Special]—Six persons were injured, three seriously, a score of others were hurled from beds, and 25 stores and homes were damaged late last night when two men in an automobile hurled a bomb into the doorway of a saloon.

The blast rocked the Hill district and thousands of residents ran to the scene. Firemen and police reserves were called to check the crowds and protect the wrecked stores.

An alleged bootleg war between Italian factions caused the blast, police say.

Cars Crash in Snowstorm; Two Killed, Two Injured

Battle Creek, Mich., May 2.—[Special]—Two men were killed and two others seriously injured when their automobiles collided head-on on a highway just west of this city tonight. The dead are George Dixon, Muskegon, Mich., and William Madden, Owosso, both employees of a wholesale oil company. The injured are Harold Born, Kalamazoo, and Raymond Darling, Auditorium Tower building, Clinton. The injured man, in a hospital bed, is expected to recover. The accident occurred during a terrific snowstorm which made windshield wipers of both cars useless.

Louis Briggs Lee, Official of Book Company, Is Dead

Louis Briggs Lee, vice president of the American Book company of New York and managing director of the Chicago office, died at his home, 174 North Euclid avenue, Oak Park, on April 25. Mr. Lee was 66 years old. Funeral services were held at his residence and a burial was made at Elgin, Ill., his boyhood home. None of his immediate family survives him.

Melange Again Evening's Best, Elmer Reports

Suite by Handel Wins Honorable Mention.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

For the second evening in succession there was but one important program on the air, the program last evening being the weekly Musical Melange from W-G-N, 830 to 9.

The opening selection was a suite of six numbers by Handel, scored for a small orchestra. Large orchestras were unknown even as late as Beethoven's time. Since it may be assumed that the W-G-N Symphony orchestra playing the Handel suite was a small one, it may be presumed that we heard it quite as it was played in Handel's own day. Close observers of this Mélange program must have noted that Handel's suite was generally lighter and brighter in color than a similar suite by Bach played last week.

The two sections of a suite for woodwind instruments by the once popular eighteenth century composer, Onslow, were pleasant to listen to, as are almost any selections performed by the fascinating woodwind section of this orchestra.

In introducing a nocturne by Chopin, played by Old Jirousek, cellist, the statement was made that "Chopin will again be the star of the next concert world that he was a few years ago." We may all hope that Chopin will not be the rage in the radio world that he was a few years ago when every radio pianist, competent and incompetent, thumped out Chopin night after night. This particular nocturne, arranged for cello and orchestra, was attractive; the solo part would be im-

Another word of admiration is due Ben Simon, one of W-G-N's violinists who is rapidly coming to the fore, for his playing of Kreisler's difficult composition, "Caprice Viennois."

CHICAGO'S OLDEST PHOTOGRAPHER IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Silas P. Melander, Chicago's oldest photographer, died yesterday at his home, 3812 North Keystone avenue. He was 79 years old and during the last two years had been in failing health. His career as a photographer began sixty years ago and continued until his retirement in 1924.

He began when a boy of nineteen in a studio on Lake street, near Clark street, but for the last 40 years his studio was located at 67 West Ohio street. He left home as a photographer when only Chicagoans who had money to burn could afford him his record.

Mr. Melander is survived by his widow, Mrs. Harriet M. Melander; a son, and a daughter. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in the chapel at 3334 Irving Park boulevard. Interment will be in Graceland cemetery.

Fres Entertainment.

The boss handed Marie and me our pay envelopes and then left the office saying he would be back in an hour. When we examined our pay checks we found we had received raises and the euphoria began to celebrate.

Marie started to clap her hands and sing "On the Beach of Walkiki," so I hopped up and was right in the middle of a hula hula wriggle when the door opened and the boss announced to a stranger who was with him, "This is our prospective business department."

A rather constrained silence followed while Marie stopped singing and I straightened up and hastened to my desk again, the stranger laughed and said, "You ought to do a rushing business with such good entertainment to attract the customers."

I'm positive that if there had been room under our desks Marie and I would have crawled under and stayed there for the rest of the day.

"Old Ways to Make Money."

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Black magic is never absent from fashion's bag of tricks. No matter how much is said in favor of the shimmering evening frock of white or of the exquisite and colorful prints which give almost any party the appearance of a butterflies' ball, we need never think that the black evening gown is passé. For at no time is it.

No less than fifteen black frocks were noted at a recent dinner-dance. Lace, net, combination of lace and chiffon, taffeta, and flat crepe represented the materials sponsoring this color. Remember that many women look more youthful in black than in other combinations and remember, also, that it is always slenderizing.

Today we are offering just the sort of black frock you must have for your European outfit or for those occasions which close the season in town. It is one of the Callot's models which achieves unequalled distinction of line. The bodice, ending almost at the natural waistline, is plain. The skirt, developed in two tiers, is very tightly around the figure and draped at the sides where the falls in graceful swirls. Bands of emerald green taffeta border each tier and this color is repeated both in the bow posed on the upper tier and in the necklace.

Nothing is more exciting, nowadays, than to observe how the evening frock achieves fullness. While the two and three tiered skirt is still a favorite means, it doesn't dominate other manipulations.

Not Concerned
Land Arman

Washington, D. C., May 3.—President Hoover has sent for the early adoption of a bill to reduce land area where the size of the United States army would be reduced. This is the reason, it was said, that the administration would demand the hands of the army in determining what would be placed on land. The powers now claimed by the government at Geneva.

The President's position was clarified

in the action of the American delegation at Geneva last night, indicating that the United States objects to the United Nations army reserves as counted in determining of the nation's army for the present or a future European concern.

The President feels

United States is not involved in the question and it should take a bold stand rather than

European powers in finding meeting ground. For the President's

ambassadorial efforts and the formula which is to be adopted
